Space and Time David C. Wright, Jr., Allan W. Austin, 2010-04-19 Essays in this work examine treatments of history in science fiction and fantasy television programs from a variety of disciplinary and methodological perspectives Some essays approach science fiction and fantasy television as primary evidence demonstrating how such programs consciously or unconsciously elucidate persistent concerns and enduring ideals of a past era and place Other essays study television as secondary evidence investigating how popular media construct and communicate narratives about past events

Geography and Memory Owain Jones, Joanne Garde-Hansen, 2012-10-10 This collection shifts the focus from collective memory to individual memory by incorporating new performative approaches to identity place and becoming Drawing upon cultural geography the book provides an accessible framework to approach key aspects of memory remembering archives commemoration and forgetting in modern societies

Remembering Violence Nicolas Argenti, Katharina Schramm, 2010 Psychologists have done a great deal of research on the effects of trauma on the individual revealing the paradox that violent experiences are often secreted away beyond easy accessibility becoming impossible to verbalize explicitly However comparatively little research has been done on the transgenerational effects of trauma and the means by which experiences are transmitted from person to person across time to become intrinsic parts of the social fabric With eight contributions covering Africa Central and South America China Europe and the Middle East this volume sheds new light on the role of memory in constructing popular histories or historiographies of violence in the absence of or in contradistinction to authoritative written histories It brings new ethnographic data to light and presents a truly cross cultural range of case studies that will greatly enhance the discussion of memory and violence across disciplines , Cultural Crisis and Social Memory Charles F. Keyes, Shigeharu Tanabe, 2013-10-18 This book explores social memory in the context of cultural crises of modernity in Thailand and Laos It explicates the ways in which social memory constructed by the people enters modernity and how this in turn causes fundamental ruptures with their past as well as the various ways cultural crises are experienced in their lives The essays in this book consider how in these crises the people constitute their cultural social or individual identities particularly focusing on the theoretical issues of identifications and their relevance to distinct historical processes in Thailand and Laos Both countries particularly in the two decades since the 1970s have been undergoing radical social and economic changes Whilst Thailand has travelled down the road to industrialization neighbouring Laos experienced a communist revolution in 1975 and only since the late 1980s has attempted to follow a reformist path to development Increasingly influenced by globalised economic and social institutions both countries have come to face crises that have made people insecure in the present and anxious about the future

States for adoption in the postwar period Memory and Remembering in Early Irish Literature Sarah Künzler, 2023-12-04
Ireland possesses an early and exceptionally rich medieval vernacular tradition in which memory plays a key role What attitudes to remembering and forgetting are expressed in secular early Irish texts How do the texts conceptualise the past and what does this conceptualisation tell us about the present and future Who mediates and validates different versions of the past and how is future remembrance guaranteed This study approaches such questions through close readings of individual texts It centres on three major aspects of medieval Irish memory culture places and landscapes the provision of information about the past by miraculously old eye witnesses and the personal social and cultural impact of forgetting The discussions shed light on the relationship between memory and forgetting and explore the connections between the past present and future This shows the fascinating spatio temporal identity constructions in medieval Ireland and links the Irish texts to the broader European world The monograph makes this rich literary sources available to an interdisciplinary audience and is of interest to both a general medievalist audience and those working in Cultural Memory Studies What
