Tenure Promotion And Reappointment Legal And Administrative Implications:

Tenure, Promotion, and Reappointment: Legal and Administrative Implications Benjamin Baez, John A. Centra, 1995-02-14 In this report Benjamin Baez an instructor of higher education at Syracuse University and John A Centra professor and chairman of the Higher Education program at Syracuse University have developed a comprehensive view of faculty legal issues concerning tenure promotion and reappointments They address the primary areas of litigation Baez and Centra have provided an analysis that will be extremely useful for institutions to begin a comprehensive legal education program for their academic leadership Foreword xiv Catalog of ERIC Clearinghouse Publications ,1997

Understanding and Facilitating Organizational Change in the 21st Century: Recent Research and Conceptualizations Adrianna Kezar, 2011-10-06 There is a widespread discontent with the quality of education and levels of college student achievement particularly for undergraduates preparing for the professions This report examines the educational challenges in preparing professionals reviews the specific types of curriculum innovations that faculty and administrators have created or significantly revised to strengthen college graduates abilities and focuses on the societal changes and expectations produced by the acceleration in technology Resources in Education ,1997 The ERIC Review ,1991 Provides information on programs research publications and services of ERIC as well as critical and current education information

Higher Education Administration Rachel S. Blechman, Norma M. Goonen, 1999-11-30 Goonen and Blechman provide an analysis useful as a desk reference or as a text for practicing and prospective administrators and university counsel They examine the legal points ethical questions and practical steps an administrator or university counsel should be aware of in dealing with some of the most frequently encountered issues in the administration of a college university or other postsecondary institution Each chapter targets a selected area of academic affairs and the format includes four sections legal parameters ethical considerations practical suggestions and an illustrative case Hiring issues compensation and employment issues promotion and tenure terminations non renewals and reductions in force academic freedom student disputes on academic matters and transcript and degree issues are all analyzed Goonen and Blechman provide a general guide that can be readily utilized and understood by those without specific prior training in the law or in higher education administration The discussions and information the guide contains will be valuable to current and prospective practitioners as they seek to balance the legal ethical and practical issues that surface in every decision in the increasingly complex higher education arena Grading the College Scott M. Gelber, 2020-06-23 A comprehensive history of evaluation in American higher education In Grading the College Scott M Gelber offers a comprehensive history of evaluating teaching and learning in higher education He complicates the conventional narrative that portrays evaluation as a newfangled assault on the integrity of higher education while acknowledging that there are many compelling reasons to oppose those practices The evaluation of teaching and learning Gelber argues presented genuine dilemmas that have attracted the attention of faculty members and academic leaders since the 1920s Especially during the peak era of faculty authority that followed the end of the Second World War significant numbers of professors and administrators believed that evaluation might improve institutional performance reduce the bias inherent in traditional methods of supervision strengthen communication with laypersons and encourage a more deliberate focus on the distinctive goals of college Gelber reveals the extent to which professors and academic interest groups participated in the development of our most common evaluation instruments including student course questionnaires achievement tests surveys rubrics rankings and accreditation self studies Although these efforts may seem distant from the present era of shortsighted scrutiny and ill conceived comparisons Gelber demonstrates that the evaluation of college teaching and learning has long consisted of a set of intellectually sophisticated questions that have engaged and could continue to engage faculty members and their advocates By providing a deeper understanding of how evaluation operated before the dawn of high stakes accountability Grading the College seeks to promote productive conversations about current attempts to define and measure the purposes of American higher education

Exposing the "Culture of Arrogance" in the Academy Gail L. Thompson, Angela C. Louque, 2023-07-12 There generally remains a gulf between the way most Black faculty perceive the racial climate at their institutions and the recognition by non Black faculty and administrators that there are problems and that these perceptions have merit This book is intended to promote a productive dialogue This book weaves the authors own experiences with the responses of 136 Black faculty to a questionnaire and a smaller sample who were interviewed to identify the factors that determine Black faculty's satisfaction or dissatisfaction with their jobs and institutions Recurring themes underscore the importance of a supportive work environment that is built on mutual respect full inclusion in the decision making process and an institutional climate that does not tolerate cultural insensitivity or racism The qualitative and quantitative information and the authors conclusions can help postsecondary institutions improve Black faculty satisfaction levels and ultimately retention rates This book will resonate with any Black faculty who have felt frustrated enough to consider leaving a postsecondary institution and with those who are content at their current institutions For non Black faculty and for administrators of all races the book illuminates the sources of job satisfaction and dissatisfaction explains the reasons their Black colleagues leave or stay and offers valuable recommendations for change For anyone at any level interested in the issue of the racial climate at his or her institution this book offers a constructive framework for discussion and action

Evaluating and Improving Undergraduate Teaching in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Center for Education, Committee on Recognizing, Evaluating, Rewarding, and Developing Excellence in Teaching of Undergraduate Science, Mathematics, Engineering, and Technology, 2003-01-19 Economic academic and social forces are causing undergraduate schools to start a fresh examination of teaching effectiveness Administrators face the complex task of developing equitable predictable ways to evaluate encourage and reward good teaching in science math
