of what has worked in China's development model. Over the past 30 years, China has experienced a remarkable economic rise but it now faces the challenge of switching the drivers of this economic growth which have proven so successful. The path has not been an easy one and many challenges lie ahead. However, the rise of the Chinese economy has been the most significant global development in recent years. Is there a specific Chinese model? How was the Chinese transition from a Soviet style economic structure to one that is more open to market influences and the global market achieved? In 15 essays, Dr Hong provides fascinating insights to these and other key questions. The essays cover the challenges involved in transition and how the market oriented reforms progressed, what the consequences of the transition were for public goods provision and how China opened up its economic system. The essays in Part II address the remaining challenges facing rural areas trying to develop a more consumer driven economic base and how to effectively modify the model of economic development. This book provides a sound basis for policymakers and scholars alike as well as anyone who wants to get an insider's view of the progress and challenges faced by China's economic development.

Modernization Science Chuanqi He, 2012-02-18. Depending on their national level of income development and modernization, all countries in the world can be generally categorized as either advanced or developing. Studies on why advanced countries continue to develop, how they maintain their level of development, and how developing countries enter into the advanced club fall into the field of modernization science, which is an emerging interdisciplinary science. This monograph, the first English book available on modernization science, interprets its concepts, methodologies, general theories, first and second modernization, six level specific, six field specific, and three sector specific modernizations, modernization policy and evaluation, and the principles and methods of national development since the 18th century. It provides clear, systematic, up-to-date information on this new discipline with more than 173 figures and 265 tables and covers 131 countries and 97% of the global population. A comprehensive outlook on world modernization is presented from a Chinese perspective.
