The Ancient Economy Sather Classical Lectures Volume 43:

The World of Jesus and the Early Church Craig A. Evans, 2011 Prominent scholars in the fields of Archaeology New Testament Studies and the Dead Sea Scrolls have come together in The World of Jesus and the Early Church to focus on early Jewish and Christian communities of faith and their impact on the collections of texts that were their scriptures and would become in due time part of their various canons Professors students and pastors who are interested in how these communities lived how they developed what they believed and how they regarded and preserved the written documents that were their scripture will be interested in this comprehensive volume drawn from presentations made to key conferences on the subject This book's emphasis on a variety of communities of faith not just Christian and their early and critical influence on the development of religious canonical materials sets it apart from others on New Testament period culture

Barbarians and Romans Justine Davis Randers-Pehrson, 2024-12-06 Barbarians and Romans 1983 examines the rise of the barbarian tribes and the consequent decline of the Roman Empire The author contends that the two sides were not bent on destroying each other and that after years of accommodation and alienation a new world would emerge that had its foundations not only in Rome but also in Germanic culture The book ranges across the Roman world and from the rulers to the ruled combining the study of monuments and artefacts with the literary evidence of the period

The Wild Word Jaeda Charlotte Calaway, 2025-08-17 Placed in a manger as an infant Jesus seems to have been born into a world teeming with animal life Yet read the stories again Does Mary ride a donkey Does the centurion ride a horse Animals are everywhere in the gospels though not always in the ways we expect Where animals are visible their presence means more than we realize The Wild Word explores the gospels well known forgotten and missing portrayals of animals Jaeda Calaway examines the many interactions between humans and other animals in these biblical texts first considering forms of consumption such as eating animals wearing animal products working animals and sacrificing animals She then turns to symbolic animality how humans assign animal traits and archetypes to other humans how divine and demonic powers intersect with wild and domestic animals and what queer and trans readings of gospel animals can illuminate Told and retold for two thousand years the gospel stories are deeply imprinted on Western culture The Wild Word reveals how many of their associations with animals animality and wildness remain with us today

Creating Wealth Gwendolyn Hallsmith, Bernard Lietaer, 2011-05-01 The power of local currencies Communities everywhere are challenged by issues such as health elder and child care housing education food security and the environment On the surface these problems appear to be rooted in economic crisis foreexample budget cuts have triggered reduced public services soaring food prices have created food security concerns and the subprime mortgage disaster has spawned record increases in foreclosures and homelessness However if communities could match their unmet needs with their underutilized resources many would find that while their economies may be struggling when measured in traditional terms they possess enough genuine wealth to allow all their inhabitants to enjoy a vastly improved quality of life Creating Wealth demonstrates how a healthy society can be attained through developing new systems of exchange Using creative initiatives such as time banks systems of barter and exchange and local currencies cities and towns can empower themselves and build vibrant healthy sustainable local economies In addition to presenting many compelling case studies of successful alternative currencies in action Creating Wealth also explores the different types of capital that communities have to draw on including natural built social human institutional cultural technological and financial This book will appeal to community activists city planners and other public officials and anyone interested in developing strong local economies Gwendolyn Hallsmith is the founder and director of Global Community Initiatives and the author of The Key to Sustainable Cities Bernard Lietaer is the world's leading authority on complementary currencies and the author of The Future of Money
