Soane And Death:

Death and Memory Sir John Soane's Museum, 2015 This book of essays is published to coincide with an exhibition of the same title at Sir John Soane's Museum Lincoln's Inn Fields London October 23 2015 March 26 2016 commemorating the 200th anniversary of Soane's beloved wife Eliza's death on November 22 1815 Its relevance to Soane studies is however much broader with essays shedding new light on the architecture of legacy in Sir John Soane's Museum Soane's preoccupation with memorialization as revealed in the design process for the Soane family tomb the legacy of his drawings collection and Soane's attempt shortly before his death to sustain future interest in his collections by creating a series of time capsules The essays written by the curatorial team at Sir John Soane's Museum are accompanied by 39 illustrations in full color some of them published for the first time Housing the New Romans Katharine T. von Stackelberg, Elizabeth Macaulay-Lewis, 2017-06-01 This volume of scholarly essays investigates how the reception of Classical Greece and Rome and ancient Egypt redeployed Classicizing and Egyptianizing tropes in the 19th and 20th Centuries to create a new cultural hybrid the Neo Antique dwelling The Architecture of Ruins Jonathan Hill, 2019-03-25 The Architecture of Ruins Designs on the Past Present and Future identifies an alternative and significant history of architecture from the sixteenth century to the twenty first century in which a building is designed occupied and imagined as a ruin This design practice conceives a monument and a ruin as creative interdependent and simultaneous themes within a single building dialectic addressing temporal and environmental questions in poetic psychological and practical terms and stimulating questions of personal and national identity nature and culture weather and climate permanence and impermanence and life and death Conceiving a building as a dialogue between a monument and a ruin intensifies the already blurred relations between the unfinished and the ruined and envisages the past the present and the future in a single architecture Structured around a collection of biographies this book conceives a monument and a ruin as metaphors for a life and means to negotiate between a self and a society Emphasising the interconnections between designers and the particular ways in which later architects learned from earlier ones the chapters investigate an evolving interdisciplinary design practice to show the relevance of historical understanding to design Like a history a design is a reinterpretation of the past that is meaningful to the present Equally a design is equivalent to a fiction convincing users to suspend disbelief We expect a history or a novel to be written in words but they can also be delineated in drawing cast in concrete or seeded in soil The architect is a physical novelist as well as a physical historian Like building sites ruins are full of potential In revealing not only what is lost but also what is incomplete a ruin suggests the future as well as the past As a stimulus to the imagination a ruin's incomplete and broken forms expand architecture's allegorical and metaphorical capacity indicating that a building can remain unfinished literally and in the imagination focusing attention on the creativity of users as well as architects Emphasising the symbiotic relations between nature and culture a building designed occupied and imagined as a ruin acknowledges the coproduction of multiple authors

whether human non human or atmospheric and is an appropriate model for architecture in an era of increasing climate change

The Production Sites of Architecture Sophia Psarra, 2019-01-14 The Production Sites of Architecture examines the intimate link between material sites and meaning It explores questions such as how do spatial configurations produce meaning What are alternative modes of knowledge production How do these change our understanding of architectural knowledge Featuring essays from an international range of scholars the book accepts that everything about the production of architecture has social significance It focuses on two areas firstly relationships of spatial configuration form order and classification secondly the interaction of architecture and these notions with other areas of knowledge such as literature inscriptions interpretations and theories of classification ordering and invention Moving beyond perspectives which divide architecture into either an aesthetic or practical art the authors show how buildings are informed by intersections between site and content space and idea thought and materiality architecture and imagination Presenting illustrated case studies of works by architects and artists including Amale Andraos Dan Wood OMA Koen Deprez and John Soane The Production Sites of Architecture makes a major contribution to our understanding of architectural theory

Soane and Death John Soane, 1996 Allure of the Incomplete, Imperfect, and Impermanent Rumiko Handa, 2014-12-17 Architects have long operated based on the assumption that a building is complete once construction has finished Striving to create a perfect building they wish for it to stay in its original state indefinitely viewing any subsequent alterations as unintended effects or the results of degeneration The ideal is for a piece of architecture to remain permanently perfect and complete This contrasts sharply with reality where changes take place as people move in requirements change events happen and building materials are subject to wear and tear Rumiko Handa argues it is time to correct this imbalance Using examples ranging from the Roman Coliseum to Japanese tea rooms she draws attention to an area that is usually ignored the allure of incomplete imperfect and impermanent architecture By focusing on what happens to buildings after they are complete she shows that the afterlife is in fact the very life of a building However the book goes beyond theoretical debate Addressing professionals as well as architecture students and educators it persuades architects of the necessity to anticipate possible future changes and to incorporate these into their original designs

The Materiality of Mourning Zahra Newby, Ruth Toulson, 2018-07-17 Tangible remains play an important role in our relationships with the dead they are pivotal to how we remember mourn and grieve The chapters in this volume analyse a diverse range of objects and their role in the processes of grief and mourning with contributions by scholars in anthropology history fashion thanatology religious studies archaeology classics sociology and political science The book brings together consideration of emotions memory and material agency to inform a deeper understanding of the specific roles played by objects in funerary contexts across historical and contemporary societies
