Social Challenge Of Aging:

The Social Challenge of Ageing David Hobman, 2024-05-10 Although all recorded societies have contained a few people of extreme old age they have been the exception rather than the rule The possibility of one fifth of the total population in retirement from active employment would have been unthinkable at the beginning of the twentieth century and even social planning in the 1970s had made no adequate provision for a society in which one in every twenty five people would be over seventy five and one in every hundred over eighty five within less than a decade In Great Britain in the 1970s however and in many industrialised societies this was now a reality and vast resources would need to be directed towards the support care and treatment of the aged Whilst a growing body of knowledge based upon biological and clinical studies of the ageing process had been accumulated in recent years only a modest investment had been made in social gerontology Originally published in 1978 this book provided a multi disciplinary study of the process of ageing for those in the caring professions as well as for planners and architects whose decisions and designs affected the lives of the elderly It is divided into three parts the first provides a sociological demographic and cultural background to the place of old people in eastern and western societies The second explores the relationship which exists or should exist between a number of professional disciplines and part three considers an interdisciplinary model in practice Today it can be read in its historical context Population

Ageing and Its Challenges to Social Policy R. Schoenmaeckers, Irena Kotowska, Council of Europe. Directorate General III--Social Cohesion, 2005-01-01 This publication examines the demographic challenges posed by population ageing trends and the policy implications in relation to health employment public expenditure and social relationships It contains two reports prepared for the European Population Conference held in Strasbourg in April 2005 Challenges of Biological

Aging Edward J. Masoro, PhD, 1999-07-16 This volume provides the non biologist an overview of what is known about the physiological bases of aging The author examines the many basic theories and emerging hypotheses underlying the molecular cellular and systemic processes involved in senescence He addresses the normal physiological changes that characterize the aging phenotype and also considers the role of many age associated diseases in growing older Masoro synthesizes a much needed unified theory of biological aging to which explains how and why the body grows into the condition we call old This text is intended for gerontology students in training as well as for human physiologists interested in gerontology Social Work with the Aging Louis Lowy, 1985 Issues in Aging Mark Novak, 2018-02-02 Issues in

Aging combines social psychological biological and philosophical perspectives to present a multifaceted picture of aging Novak illustrates both the problems and the opportunities that accompany older age This text helps students understand the tremendous variability in aging and introduces them to careers working with older adults This new edition reflects the continued changes in the way we age The fourth edition has been updated to include emerging issues in aging These include the prevalence of HIV AIDs in later life current research on mental potential in old age the creation of age friendly cities and new options for end of life care Each chapter begins with a set of learning objectives to guide students in their reading and concludes with a list of main points questions for discussion or study suggested readings and relevant web sites to consult Each chapter also includes up to date charts and graphs as well as key terms to help students understand the issues presented Break out boxes reveal the human side of aging through the stories of individuals in real life and in the media

Living Arrangements of the Elderly and Social Policy Kevin G. Kinsella,1990 Social Geography of Healthy Aging

Karin Volkwein-Caplan,Jasmin Tahmaseb McConatha,2012 The healthy and successful transition to later life can be a difficult experience This book will discuss the historical cultural and social psychological factors that shape the quality of life of older women and men A central premise of the book is that where we live is vital to how we age Thus the book has a look at stories of older women and men who are from different cultural backgrounds Argumentaire de l ouvrage Constructing Global Challenges in World Politics Alina Isakova,Malte Neuwinger,Robin Schulze Waltrup,Oday Uraiqat,2024-06-24 This interdisciplinary book investigates the problematization of global challenges in world politics by analyzing what they are and how they come to be Offering a conceptual framework including four modes of construction universalizing bundling upscaling and creating urgency this book provides a heuristic method for understanding how the process of rendering an issue a global challenge unfolds It examines the role of the global challenges discourse which may either reinforce or challenge the dominant orders of world politics such as the capitalist market based system and the liberal international order As a consequence the global challenges discourse facilitates the emergence of new actors and policy fields The book will be of interest to students academics and practitioners of global governance international organizations and more broadly international political economy and international relations Challenging Aging The Anti-senescence Effects of

Hormesis, Environmental Enrichment and Information Exposure Marios Kyriazis,2016-08-30 Age related degeneration may be reduced or even eliminated by positively challenging the human being physically or cognitively to up regulate somatic repair functions Exposure to meaningful information and a challenging environment act as hormetic stressors which in the context of an increasingly technological setting may invoke evolutionary mechanisms that lead to a persistent maintenance of homeostasis Thus there is a strong link between environmental factors and ongoing health leading to an individual s ability to continually adapt to age related challenges Challenging Ageing The Anti senescence Effects of Hormesis Environmental Enrichment and Information Exposure explains the role of hormesis in anti aging processes followed by information on vitagenes epigenetics environmental enrichment and germlines The monograph also brings newer concepts and theories to the fore such as environmental enrichment and technoculture Medical professionals and general readers alike will gain a new perspective on the processes that counter aging processes in the human being Challenges of Latino Aging in the Americas William A. Vega,Kyriakos S. Markides,Jacqueline L. Angel,Fernando M. Torres-Gil,2015-03-18 This book examines one of the most important demographic changes facing the United States an overall aging population and the increasing influence of Latinos It also looks at the changing demographics in Mexico and its impact on the health and financial well being of aging Mexicans and Mexican Americans The book provides a conceptual and accessible framework that will educate and inform readers about the interconnectedness of the demographic trends facing these two countries It also explores the ultimate personal social and political impact they will have on all Americans in the U S as well as Mexico Challenges of Latino Aging in the Americas features papers presented at the 2013 International Conference on Aging in the Americas held at the University of Texas at Austin September 2013 It brings together the work of many leading scholars from the fields of sociology demography psychology anthropology geography social work geriatric medicine epidemiology and public affairs Coverage in this edited collection includes working with diverse populations culturally compatible interventions for diverse elderly the health mental health and social needs and concerns of aging Latinos and the policy political and bi lateral implications of aging and diversity in the U S and Mexico The book provides a rich blend of empirical evidence with insightful cutting edge analysis that will serve as an insightful resource for researchers and policy makers professors and graduate students in a wide range of fields from sociology and demography to economics and political science Social Support Networks, Coping and Positive Aging Among the Community-Dwelling Elderly in Hong Kong Susu Liu,2019-01-04 The dramatically increasing aging population of Hong Kong has elicited new risks and opportunities to facilitate a positive life for older adults This book offers a holistic review of gerontological theories and literature and constructs a conceptual framework of social support networks coping and positive aging In light of the implications of the convoy model of social support to depict an indigenous landscape of positive aging in Hong Kong this is one of the very few empirical studies that adopts both quantitative research and qualitative research The research consisted of a pilot study of in depth interviews with 16 older Hong Kong Chinese and a main study surveying 393 older members of District Elderly Community Center The results of the study indicate that family and peer support constitute the mainstay of support networks of the elderly and that family and peer support are associated with positive aging Moreover the study shows that it is the depth of emotional closeness namely close interaction and intimacy with social partners that makes the greatest contribution to positive aging Additionally problem coping and emotion coping are found to mediate the relationship between social support networks and positive aging There is potential in bringing more domestic helpers into elderly care and improving the service quality such that the goal of Aging in Place can be promoted in Hong Kong Intended for researchers in social work gerontology and positive psychology it is also essential reading for graduates and social work professionals interested in this area This book makes a valuable contribution to social gerontological research among Hong Kong older adults and the promotion of wellbeing in the elderly via the construct of positive aging in the culture of Chinese society GLOBAL AGING ISSUES AND POLICIES Yushi (Boni) Li,2013-06-01 Aging society is an urgent global issue that challenges almost all human societies in the world When nations evolve into aging societies they must establish and implement policies and approaches to meet the needs of the elderly population such as elderly services long term care health care policies institutional facilities illness and healing processes financial support and retirement life and leisure The fundamental purpose of this book is to help students and readers develop their knowledge on worldwide elderly issues To accomplish this goal the text incorporates 18 chapters from different countries with a variety of aging topics which are divided into continents including Africa Asia Europe North and South America and the Oceanic Islands Specific chapters from the following countries regions are included Sub Saharan Africa South Africa China Japan Israel Singapore Thailand Austria United Kingdom Estonia Portugal Spain Sweden United States Australia New Zealand Argentina and Uruguay By sharing these regions and nations elderly issues and their particular solutions to the challenges it provides readers with global views on current aging processes policies and strategies The book effectively helps readers understand that the increase of the elderly population is a major development of the 21st century The text further helps comprehend the importance of improving the elderly population s overall quality of life as well as valuing the contribution they can make to their communities and society The reader will gain insights about why global elderly issues are critical and how the lives of elderly have been impacted and influenced by different policies societies and cultures in which they live The book is designed as a college text for study of aging issues with a global perspective Also any readers interested in topics of the elderly will find the book to be a most beneficial resource
