

A historical photograph showing the aftermath of the Triangle Factory Fire. In the foreground, a large crowd of people, mostly African American, is gathered on the street. A fire hose is being used to spray water onto the ground. In the background, the multi-story factory building is visible, with smoke rising from it. The scene is captured in a sepia-toned, historical style.

Fire at the Triangle Factory Holly Littlefield,1991-08-01 Six days a week Minnie and Tessa sit shoulder to shoulder bent over sewing machines in a big room overflowing with piles of fabric patterns and lace There is no fresh air the light is dim and there are too many people in the room The work is hard and the days are long Minnie and Tessa work at the Triangle Shirtwaist Company in New York City The two fourteen year olds are best friends It isn't easy for a Jewish girl and a Catholic girl to be friends in 1911 some people think they're just too different But Minnie and Tessa must depend on that friendship when the Triangle factory goes up in flames and they are trapped on the ninth floor This moving story of courage and friendship is based on true accounts of the tragic Triangle Shirtwaist Company fire of March 25 1911

Collier's,1913 The Triangle Shirtwaist Factory Fire Brenda Lange,2009 In the early years of the twentieth century conditions were harsh in factories all over New York City but they proved devastating at one in particular On March 25 1911 a fast moving fire destroyed the top three floors of the building in which the Triangle Shirtwaist factory was located One hundred and forty six young women and several men died in the worst workplace disaster to take place in the United States to that date Cluttered and unsanitary conditions in the factory contributed to the blaze but what fueled the public's outrage was the failure of the factory's owners to establish and maintain a safe working environment in the first place The fire at the Triangle factory inspired dozens of reforms and spurred legislation to enforce workplace safety It also contributed to an awakening attitude of social awareness and responsibility nationwide

The Politics of Egalitarianism Jacqueline Solway,2006-03-01 The essays assembled in this book exemplify the way political anthropologists address a range of problems that deeply affect people throughout the world The authors draw their inspiration from the work of Canadian anthropologist Richard B Lee and like him they are concerned with understanding and acting upon issues of indigenous rights the impact of colonialism postcolonial state formation and neoliberalism on local communities and cultures the process of culture change what the history and politics of egalitarian societies reveal about issues of human nature or social evolution and how peoples in southern Africa are affected by and responding to the most recent crisis in their midst the spread of AIDS The authors in this volume discuss the state of a range of contemporary debates in the field that in various ways extend the political theoretical and empirical issues that have animated Lee's work. In addition, the book provides readers with important contemporary Kalahari studies as well as classic works on foraging societies.
