The Storied Church Matthew Gorkos, 2021-09-07 Matthew Gorkos begins The Storied Church with this compelling statement I believe in the church in the power of faithful people serving a good and gracious God and I believe in the power of a good story Moreover I believe as this book will argue that church and story harnessed together could be an even more powerful force for goodness in our world Neuroscientists anthropologists archeologists and psychologists all agree Story is how our brains and our communities make sense of things Storytelling helps us cope with change and loss Storytelling helps us transmit lessons and life skills to the next generation As human beings it seems we can't do without story This book indeed this whole idea of story centered church renewal was born of a suspicion that the restorative transformative life giving function that stories have for us as individuals may serve communities of faithful people as well If stories help us

survive as human creatures why can't they help churches survive The problem that story centered renewal seeks to remedy has only become more prevalent and urgent in the age of Covid 19 Our churches need hope now more than ever Writing from a pastor's perspective Gorkos hopes to encourage and empower other pastors and lay leaders with both the hope and the tools they need to effect revitalizing change in their faith communities Each chapter includes questions for reflection to help readers listen to and tell the stories that will lead to renewal and transformation

Anyone Who Has a View F.H. van Eemeren, J. Anthony Blair, Charles A. Willard, A. Francisca Snoeck Henkemans, 2012-12-06 This volume of the Argumentation Library contains a collection of twenty six theoretical contributions to the study of argumentation Together they provide an overview of recent developments in the theory of argumentation which does justice to the theoretical variety in the field In Anyone Who Has a View the subject of argumentation is approached from different angles Both the formal and informal logical approaches and the rhetorical and communicative approaches are represented in various ways We are convinced that the collection of essays as a whole will be of interest not only to those engaged directly in the study of argumentation but also to scholars from a variety of disciplines who are interested in the recent developments in this field The book opens with an essay by the informal logician Robert C Pinto For all the differences between them James B Freeman Harvey Siegel Ralph H Johnson Hans V Hansen and J Anthony Blair are also prominent members of that movement Some informal logicians either eschew or simply do not use formal methods in their approach to argumentation while others such as David Hitchcock use both formal and informal methods Erik C W Krabbe is a logician who proudly defends a formal dialectical approach to argumentation Daniel H Cohen Frans H van Eemeren Peter Houtlosser Fred J Kauffeld C Scott Jacobs Christian Kock Christian Plantin Sorin Stati Chris Reed Douglas N

A History of the Book in America David Paul Nord, Joan Shelley Rubin, Michael Schudson, David D. surrounding health and risk communication from the perspective of applied linguistics. It outlines the ways applied linguistics differs from other methods of understanding health and risk communication, assesses the benefits and limitations of the approaches used by different scholars in the field, and offers an innovative framework for consolidating past research and charting new directions. Utilizing data from clinical interactions and everyday life, this book addresses a number of crucial questions including: How are the everyday actions we take around health constructed and constrained through discourse? What is the role of texts in influencing health behaviour, and how are these texts put together and interpreted by readers? How are actions and identities around health and risk negotiated in situated social interactions, and what are the factors that influence these negotiations? How will new technologies like genetic screening influence the way we communicate about health? How does communication about health and risk help create communities and institutions, and reflect and reproduce broader ideologies and patterns of power and inequality within societies?

Health and Risk Communication: An Applied Linguistic Perspective is essential reading for advanced students and researchers studying and working in this area. The Future of Social Epistemology James H. Collier, 2015-12-02. The Future of Social Epistemology: A Collective Vision sets an agenda for exploring the future of what we human beings reimagining our selves and our society want, need, and ought to know. The book examines concretely, practically, and speculatively key ideas such as the public conduct of philosophy, models for extending and distributing knowledge, the interplay among individuals and groups, risk taking, and the welfare state, and envisioning people and societies remade through the breakneck pace of scientific and technological change. An international team of contributors offers a collective vision, one that speaks to what they see unfolding and how to plan and conduct the dialogue and work leading to a knowable and desirable world. The book describes and advances an intellectual agenda for the future of social epistemology.

Benelong's Haven Richard Chenhall, 2014-02-01. Benelong's Haven was the first residential alcohol and drug treatment program controlled and operated by an Aboriginal Australian. It was established by Val Bryant in 1974 in the Sydney suburb of Marrickville, before moving to the small township of Kinchela Creek on the mid north coast of New South Wales three years later. The centre is one example of the different approaches Aboriginal people have developed to deal with the problem of drug and alcohol abuse in their communities, where people who have experienced problems with alcohol and drug use can leave their existing environment and come to a different place. Anthropologist Richard Chenhall first visited Benelong's Haven for two weeks in late 1997. At the invitation of Val Bryant, he returned later for an extended period of fieldwork, observing and participating in the centre's activities and getting to know staff and residents. There have been few studies that reflect Aboriginal social life in larger cities or in institutional settings. Benelong's Haven represents an attempt to examine, at the ethnographic level, the different ways in which individuals are shaped by and interact within the larger structures and social institutions that surround them. More specifically, it documents an instance of Australian Aboriginal people trying to achieve change in their lives.

Comic Drunks, Crazy Cults, and Lovable Monsters

David Scott Diffrient, 2022-12-01 Contradictory to its core the sitcom an ostensibly conservative tranquilizing genre has a long track record in the United States of tackling controversial subjects with a fearlessness not often found in other types of programming But the sitcom also conceals as much as it reveals masking the rationale for socially deviant or deleterious behavior behind figures of ridicule whose motives are rarely disclosed fully over the course of a thirty minute episode Examining a broad range of network and cable TV shows across the history of the medium from classic working class comedies such as The Honeymooners All in the Family and Roseanne to several contemporary cult series animated programs and online hits that have yet to attract much scholarly attention this book explores the ways in which social imaginaries related to bad behavior have been humorously exploited over the years The repeated appearance of socially wayward figures on the small screen from raging alcoholics to brainwashed cult members to actual monsters who are merely exaggerated versions of our own inner demons has the dual effect of reducing complex individuals to recognizable types while neutralizing the presumed threats that they pose Such representations not only provide strangely comforting reminders that badness is a cultural construct but also prompt audiences to reflect on their own unspoken proclivities for antisocial behavior if only in passing

Sobering Wisdom Jerome A. Miller, Nicholas Plants, 2014-12-31 Originally developed by Alcoholics Anonymous the Twelve Step program now provides life direction for the millions of people worldwide who are recovering from addiction and undergoing profound personal transformation Yet thus far it has received surprisingly little attention from philosophers despite the fact that like philosophy the program addresses all important questions regarding how we ought to live In Sobering Wisdom Jerome A Miller and Nicholas Plants offer a unique approach to the Twelve Step program by exploring its spirituality from a philosophical point of view Drawing on a variety of thinkers from Aristotle to William James and from Nietzsche to Foucault as well as a diverse range of philosophical perspectives including naturalism Buddhism existentialism Confucianism pragmatism and phenomenology the contributors to this volume address such questions as the relation of personal responsibility to an acknowledgment of powerlessness the existence of a higher power and the role of virtue in recovery Ranging in tone from deeply scholarly to intensely personal their essays are written in an accessible way for a broad audience that includes not only philosophers theologians and psychologists but also spiritual directors health professionals and addiction counselors Perhaps most important the book is also conceived for those involved in Twelve Step programs whose lives are being transformed by the experience Encyclopedia of American Folklife
