At Dwell we're staging a minor revolution. We think that it's possible to live in a house or apartment by a bold modern architect to own furniture and products that are exceptionally well designed and still be a regular human being. We think that good design is an integral part of real life. And that real life has been conspicuous by its absence in most design and architecture magazines.

Objects of Our Desire Salman Akhtar, 2007-12-18. What makes something sexy? Why are some things regarded as sacred and others profane? Why do mourners face such difficulty in parting with their beloved's possessions? Why do we often feel distraught when we lose something even when the object has little real value? We spend our lives in a meaningful dialogue with things around us. Sometimes the conversation is loud as in a collector's passion for coins or art. More often the exchange is subtle and muted even imperceptible. We are surrounded by things and they affect our emotions and impact our thoughts. The arrival of a dozen flowers from a lover or a letter from a grandchild makes our day. An old photo album or an Afghan knitted by a favorite aunt offers comfort when we are troubled. From exploring what makes something beautiful to why we place such value on antiques and artifacts from the past, Objects of Our Desire offers insights both deep and delightful into the ways we invest things with meaning and the powerful roles they play in our lives. Notice the inviting contours of that sofa, the glint of a knife's edge, the sparkle of a diamond ring. Feel the softness of the pashmina around that woman's milky shoulders. Look at the majesty of a large jet plane. Take in the somberness of a gravestone. Put on an old pair of shoes. Clutch a warm mug of freshly brewed coffee. Sit on a rocking chair. Feel the sumptuous leather seats of a new car. We are surrounded by things. We are involved with them, indebted to them. We speak to things and things speak to us. To say that we are interdependent is banal. Let us be courageous. Let us admit it: we are lovers.

Contested Home Katherine Kunz, 2025-06-27. Home is both personal and political, static and dynamic, familiar and unfamiliar. Through ethnographic research with asylum seekers at a church-based refugee program in Basel, Switzerland, Katherine Kunz explores the role of government, church, volunteers and refugees in defining belonging. By examining asylum systems, the role of place and agency and religious motivations, she reveals home as shaped by systems that often obscure its essential vulnerability and multiplicity. This study is of interest to anyone who has considered belonging through the lenses of migration, borders or religion and to those who have questioned their own relationship to home.
