Strategic Adaptation In Health Professions Meeting The Challenges Of Change:

Strategic Adaptation in the Health Professions James W. Begun, 1993-10-01 Strategic Adaptation in the Health Professions James W. Begun, Ronald C. Lippincott, 1993-10-19 Today health care professionals face an increasingly uncertain and complex set of market demands that require a change from past strategies with high levels of authority concentrated in the hands of a few medical professionals to radical new strategic alliances that involve all stakeholders The authors provide examples drawn from several health professions including medicine optometry nursing physical therapy occupational therapy pharmacy and health care administration that demonstrate how the health professions can benefit from continuous strategic adaptation Institutional Change and Healthcare Organizations W. Richard Scott, 2000-05 The changes in the US healthcare system since World War II are documented here from new technologies service delivery arrangements to financing mechanisms and underlying sets of organizing principles The authors illustrate the work with five types of healthcare organizations Management of Medical Technology Eliezer Geisler, Ori Heller, 2012-12-06 This is the second book in the series of books that we edit on the Management of Medical Technology MMT published by Kluwer Academic Publishers The first book Managing Technology in Health Care offered a broad brushed view of the topics involved in the new and exciting area of MMT that we have launched A group of distinguished scholars contributed to the first book While working on the first book in the series and on a variety of articles in MMT we began to realize that there is an urgent need for a comprehensive and highly focused book which will introduce and define the area of MMT In addition we had just completed the two studies of MMT in American hospitals and had a magnificent database fully analyzed With three months left in the first author's sabbatical and thanks to the encouragement from our editor at Kluwer Gary Folven we took to the task of writing this book The merging in this book of the description of a new intellectual space and the write up of the results from our MMT studies have created a unique blend of very attractive reading material The reader will find this book to be a fascinating adventure into a newly created area of intellectual endeavor coupled with findings about how the health care delivery system manages technology Regardless of the reader's background this book will certainly be of interest as it links the medical and business frameworks Social Work Health and Mental Health Steven P. Segal, 2014-01-02 Rise to today's challenges with these innovative and helpful value based solutions Containing important research based insights into social work practice in these fields Social Work Health and Mental Health Practice Research and Programs provides unique perspectives on shared practice problems from around the world offering new solutions to the dilemmas practitioners face every day such as reduced reliance in inpatient residential service provision increased reliance on economics in the era of managed care the move toward multidisciplinary service provision the growing awareness of diversity of needs and the cultural requirements of providing effective services Social Work Health and Mental Health Practice Research and Programs provides unique international perspectives on real world social work practice issues including ways to use your social work skills to solicit organ tissue donation for transplants how a social work directed community organization affected change in health behaviors in East Harlem New York a look at how to promote psychosocial well being following a diagnosis of cancer a survey of what mental health services Hong Kong elderly feel they need and what they now receive an examination of the role of demographics and social support in clinician and patient related compliance among HIV AIDS patients a discussion of the appropriateness of hospice services for non English speaking patients and much more Health Services Reports
