White, 2023-12-15 Every day we hear of serious errors of judgement that result in organisational disaster Why do seemingly successful businesses NGOs or even political parties fall prey to irrevocable governance breakdowns or worse still criminal malpractice By prompting readers to think deeply about strategic decision making human behaviour and cognitive biases this book offers a disciplined objective and thoughtful approach to making better decisions Every strategic problem is fundamentally a journey into the unknown which involves a unique combination of duration scale external and internal dynamics and personal motivations Rarely is a strategic decision solved by saying If a situation is A then the solution is B The book explores how to develop a strong foundation for problem resolving rather than simplistic problem solving by strengthening competence so that decisions are made wisely The case of Carillion plc the second largest construction group in the United Kingdom that went bankrupt in January 2018 is used to explore how a large and profitable company collapsed so dramatically when it was run by an experienced board and advised by three of the Big Four accounting firms Professor Jeremy N White presents a clear strategic toolkit for better strategic decision making This book will appeal to senior managers who are interested in techniques for making better strategic decisions The lessons from the failure of Carillion plc are applicable to corporate leaders in addition to politicians and those who run not for profit organisations

Socio-Cognitive Dynamics in Strategic Processes Maren S. D. Breuer, 2010

Process related considerations in strategy research and approaches to managerial cognition constitute two highly valuable yet still only limitedly integrated fields of interest in strategic management To fill this void the work starts from a cognitive perspective with the overall aim of examining the emergence of organisational strategies in strategic processes The central research object strategy is thereby conceptualized as shared strategic orientations among an organisation's key actors The existing gap between strategy process research and cognitive strategy research is closed on a conceptual level first by developing and specifying a socio cognitive perspective on strategic processes In recognition of the central importance of social interactions in this context the focus is then set on a specific core forum for strategic activities i e strategic decision making groups In this the nature and the role of social interactions for the developing strategy related knowledge structures is examined first conceptually leading to the development of a socio cognitive model on strategic decision making in groups followed by a qualitative empirical study in this kind of activity forum With its truly interdisciplinary nature the dissertation is of interest for strategy scholars as it enlarges the pool of knowledge in strategic management both content wise and also methodologically with the innovative empirical research approach adopted For practitioners contributions are made by detailing the different dimensions of strategic processes and hence sensitizing to important factors for careful overall process designs At the micro level concrete suggestions are derived for composing and instructing strategy teams in such a way as to allow for efficient interchanges during the discussions themselves as well as to enable the effectiveness of these efforts
