Antebellum American Women Writers and the Road Susan L. Roberson, 2012-07-26 A study of American women s narratives of mobility and travel this book examines how geographic movement opened up other movements or mobilities for antebellum women at a time of great national expansion Concerned with issues of personal and national identity the study demonstrates how women not only went out on the open road but participated in public discussions of nationhood in the texts they wrote Roberson examines a variety of narratives and subjects including not only traditional travel narratives of voyages to the West or to foreign locales but also the ways travel and movement figured in autobiography spiritual and political narratives and domestic novels by women as they constructed their own politics of mobility These narratives by such women as Margaret Fuller Susan Warner and Harriet Beecher Stowe destabilize the male dominated stories of American travel and nation building as women claimed the public road as a domain in which they belonged bringing with them their own ideas about mobility self and nation The many women

s stories of mobility also destabilize a singular view of women s history and broaden our outlook on geographic movement and its repercussions for other movements Looking at texts not usually labeled travel writing like the domestic novel brings to light social relations enacted on the road and the relation between story location and mobility Decolonizing African Knowledge Toyin Falola,2022-07-14 Uses textual and visual materials on the Self to understand how African ways of thinking shape the nature of societies Masculinity Under Construction LaToya Jefferson-James,2020-09-17 Masculinity Under Construction Literary Re Presentations of Black Masculinity in the African Diaspora analyzes Black male identity as constructed by Black male authors In each chapter Dr Jefferson James discusses a different construction or definition of masculine identity produced by men of African descent on the continent of Africa in the Caribbean and in North America Combing through the works of James Baldwin Chinua Achebe Ralph Ellison George Lamming and other pan African authors Masculinity Under Construction argues for the importance of analyzing the historical context that contributed to the formation of Black male identity Additionally Dr Jefferson James draws a relationship between Black feminists and writers such as Anna Julia Cooper and her contemporaries and these works of literature viewed as primarily about Black masculinity

Wimbush, 2014

Characterizing Olaudah Equiano s eighteenth century narrative of his life as a type of scriptural story that connects the Bible with identity formation Vincent L Wimbush s White Men s Magic probes not only how the Bible and its reading played a crucial role in the first colonial contacts between black and white persons in the North Atlantic but also the process and meaning of what he terms scripturalization By this term Wimbush means a social psychological political discursive structure or semiosphere that creates a reality and organizes a society in terms of relations and communications Because it is based on the particularities of Equiano s narrative Wimbush s theoretical work is not only grounded but inductive and shows that scripturalization is bigger than either the historical or the literary Equiano Scripturalization was not invented by Equiano he says but it is not quite the same after Equiano Intersecting Aesthetics Charlene Regester, Cynthia Baron, Ellen C.

Rebecca S. Richards,2014-10-28 Transnational Feminist Rhetorics and Gendered Leadership in Global Politics examines the rhetoric surrounding women who hold or have held the highest office of a nation state Heads of state such as Golda Meir Margaret Thatcher Benazir Bhutto Ellen Johnson Sirleaf and Michelle Bachelet have navigated their ascent to executive government in vastly different ways while contending with gendered expectations of leadership especially since most of them are the first woman to occupy their country s highest governmental position This book analyzes how these women rhetorically perform their positions of power discursively visually and physically in a traditionally male leadership role Specifically this project examines how certain rhetorical acts open up and close down the potential to confront the gendered expectations surrounding political leadership When people analyze campaign for or critique a female prime minister or a woman president they are not just talking about one woman but also referencing a collective neoliberal logic that interrupts and reaffirms the belief that the nation state is an eternal inevitable structure Diverse political figures such as Angela Merkel Julia Gillard and Indira Gandhi are continually put in conversation with one another through popular media representations academic scholarship and political analyses This book examines the effect of such comparisons and connections ultimately arguing that many of these gestures reduce or over simplify women s contributions to world politics In order to show this effect this book manifests the transnational connections found in autobiographies organizations political commentaries biographical films and other sources that focus on women who have been heads of state The Palgrave Handbook of
