Unmapped Countries Anne-Julia Zwierlein, 2005 Biotechnology and human genetics are the dominant applied sciences in the twenty first century Unmapped Countries provides a critical retrospective on the nineteenth century origins of modern biological science and their close connections with the cultural sphere It explores the emerging cultural authority of the biological sciences during the nineteenth century when fundamental discoveries in geology and physics dramatically destabilized the Victorian worldview In the field of literary and cultural studies interest in nineteenth century biology has been substantial for the last 20 years yet the focus has been almost exclusively on evolutionary theory neglecting other branches of nineteenth century biology This collection corrects that imbalance shedding light on other discoveries in cell biology physiology neurology and virology It examines the issue of authority in science demonstrating the social embeddedness of the natural sciences and gender issues It also shows how scientists and creative writers drew on a common imagination as well as narrative techniques and stylistic devices indeed often inspired by the same subjects This important new book including contributions from some of the most distinguished experts in the field demonstrates that the relation between literature culture and biology in the nineteenth century is far more complex than habitual references to Darwin would have us believe      Disease, Health and Ape Conservation Arcus

Foundation,2024-05-30 An objective analysis of relevant issues and case studies to further the ape conservation agenda around disease and health      To Kill a Dream John B. Fuller,2013-09 This is a story of two men from different eras Snag is a fictional man living in Neanderthal times Alan is a youth of twelve years who grows up quickly when his parents are killed in a plane crash Both go on a trail of vengeance when their loved ones are killed Snag loses his entire clan to a raid by ape men Alan loses his parents in a plane crash engineered by his uncle and his love is killed by terrorists in Dubai Snag kills many ape men and is satisfied that his search for revenge is over He is happy with another clan when he is killed by ape men seeking vengeance The local chief of police vows to assist Alan and provides a local man to help him Together they assassinate several men that were supposedly involved in Jodie s murder They blow up a compound in the country supposedly containing several involved in Jodie s death Then they discover they have killed innocent people Alan declares his war over but the police chief refuses to return his passport Ashaie discovers that the chief is responsible for Jodie s death through a scheme gone wrong Alan and Ashaie kill the chief and in two planes take all their people out of the country Alan and Ashaie run the company successfully for several years Alan meets relatives of Jodie he didn t know about a sister named Ellen and a daughter named Samatha Alan marries Ellen They adopt Samatha and they live happily together for several years Samatha finishes university and moves away to take a job and disappears Alan is a broken man and dies of a heart attack Ellen soon follows him Ashaie operates a smaller version of the company for many years That was the end of a long vengeance trail      The First Days of Man: As Narrated Quite Simply for Young Readers Frederic Arnold Kummer,2020-09-28

Every child between the ages of five and fifteen seeks by constant questioning to grasp the fundamental facts upon which our whole fabric of present day knowledge is based These facts painfully gathered by the human race during its many centuries of development must of necessity be absorbed by the child within the short space of some ten or twelve years It is a prodigious task and one in which the growing mind should be afforded every possible assistance Two courses are usually adopted by parents one to dismiss the child s questions with the stock phrase You are not old enough to understand the other to place in his hands some so called book of knowledge containing it is true a great mass of information which the child should possess but usually so badly presented so jumbled together that no one fact has any bearing on another and thus the child is left to turn from Why the ocean is salt to What is a lightning rod without the least understanding of the principles and laws which underly these and all other facts and link them together in a composite whole The writer has followed with his own children a method of presenting the steps in the gradual development of man which has produced most gratifying results Instead of treating each fact each laboriously accumulated bit of human knowledge as a mere isolated patch in a crazy quilt of information he has attempted to arrange them in logical sequence to form an interesting pattern so that as the child s fund of knowledge increases he feels a deeper and deeper interest in fitting each newly acquired fact into its proper place in his mental picture of things The result is that the child is constantly building a structure which he understands His mass of accumulated knowledge is not heaped together hap hazard like a pile of blocks but each occupies its proper and logical place in a slowly developing whole He derives pleasure from what would otherwise be hard work just as he would derive pleasure from fitting together the pieces of a puzzle picture he finds himself progressing toward some understandable end and without knowing it he has not only gathered his facts and catalogued them but he has begun to think about them and their relation to each other in short he has begun the process of logical thought which is the first and greatest step in all education
