The Death of Virgil T. H. Warren,2017-10-12 Excerpt from The Death of Virgil A Dramatic Narrative The Person are Virgil himself and his secretary Eros who surviving him by many years told in his old age more than one story of his great master especially as regards his manner of composition Augustus and Maecenas An Apothecary speaks once Mute Masks are the people of the inn attendants sailors soldiers any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Death of Virgil T. H. Warren,2016-01-12 The story of the last days of Virgil s life at Brundisium has been told in English blank iambic verse by the President of Magdalen Oxford By calling the piece A Dramatic Narrative he intends to imply that the elements of truth and fiction are blended It is not a play says the author in his notes but a story told in a dramatic form following generally fact and tradition but not professing to be strictly historic We do not think that any one could find fault with this poem on the score either of accuracy or robability The action opens with the aniding of Virgil at Brundisium in the company of Augustus Maecenas and the poet s secretary Eros In the middle of the second scene Augustus and Maecenas say farewell and during the remaining two thirds of the poem Virgil soliloquizes and finds Eros an attentive listener With commendable ingenuity every fragment of tradition has been worked into the action if action it can be called and not rather passion The circumstances of the piece are well imagined and the writer looks out from these pages as a man of culture with a sound philosophy of life and a vigorous style which is capable at times of tenderness and delicacy Yet for all this we find the piece too long Such a moment as the death of a poet like Virgil should be susceptible of exquisite treatment but it should be handled briefly and in fact as little more than a moment and not allowed to drag out into three days of soliloquizing However choice the thoughts a length of soliloquy is apt to be depressing and we cannot resist the feeling that even for a death bed

Virgil is made to indulge in introspection to a wearisome extent Mr Warren wields his metre with some power but he has some irritating mannerisms The Athenaeum 1907 The Death of Virgil a Dramatic Narrative T H Warren, 2022-10-27

Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Dorsality David Wills, 2008 In this highly original book David Wills rethinks not only our nature before all technology but also what we understand to be technology Rather than considering the human being as something natural that then develops technology Wills argues we should instead imagine an originary imbrication of nature and machine that begins with a dorsal turn a turn that takes place behind our back outside our field of vision With subtle and insightful readings Wills pursues this sense of what lies behind our idea of the human by rescuing Heidegger's thinking from a reductionist dismissal of technology examining different angles on Levinas's face to face relation and tracing a politics of friendship and sexuality in Derrida and Sade He also analyzes versions of exile in Joyce's rewriting of Homer and Broch's rewriting of Virgil and discusses how Freud and Rimbaud exemplify the rhetoric of soil and blood that underlies every attempt to draw lines between nations and discriminate between peoples In closing Wills demonstrates the political force of rhetoric in a sophisticated analysis of Nietzsche's oft quoted declaration that God is dead Forward motion Wills ultimately reveals is an ideology through which we have favored the front what can be seen over the aspects of the human and technology that lie behind the back and in the spine what can be sensed otherwise and shows that this preference has had profound environmental political sexual and ethical consequences David Wills is professor of French and English at the University of Albany SUNY He is the author of Prosthesis and Matchbook Essays in Deconstruction as well as the translator of works by Jacques Derrida including The Gift of Death

The Guiltless Hermann Broch, 2000 Murder lust shame hypocrisy and suicide are at the center of The Guiltless Hermann Broch's postwar novel about the disintegration of European society in the three decades preceding the Second World War Broch's characters an apathetic man who can barely remember his own name a high school teacher and his lover who return from the brink of a suicide pact to carry on a dishonest relationship Zerline a lady's maid who enslaves her mistresses prostitutes the young country girl Melitta and metes out her own justice against the empty wickedness of her betters are trapped in their indifference prisoners of a sort of wakeful somnolence These men and women may mention the imbecile Hitler yet they prefer a nap or sexual encounter to any social action Broch thought the kind of ethical perversity and political apathy exhibited by his characters paved the way for Nazism He believed in the purifying power of writing and hoped that by revealing Germany's underlying guilt he could purge indifference from his own and future generations In The Guiltless Broch captures how apathy and ennui very human failings evolve into something dehumanizing and dangerous Book Jacket Death and Rebirth in Virgil's Arcadia M. Owen Lee,1989-07-15 Death and Rebirth in Virgil's Arcadia is an introduction to the Eclogues based on sound scholarship but also personally felt and addressed to a popular audience It outlines clearly the literary and historical background of Virgil's early poems discusses each eclogue in some detail and offers a new and challenging interpretation of the collection as a whole The ten eclogues are shown to be a young poet's attempt at self understanding Their symmetrical arrangement is a journey inward toward the central experience of death and a journey back toward rebirth and the writing of larger and greater works

Broch, Culture and the Death of the Death of Virgil Gwee Li Sui,1997 Hugo Von Hofmannsthal and His Time Hermann Broch,1984-08-15 Hermann Broch 1886 1951 is remembered among English speaking readers for his novels The Sleepwalkers and The Death of Virgil and among German speaking readers for his novels as well as his works on moral and political philosophy his aesthetic theory and his varied criticism This study reveals Broch as a major historian as well one who believes that true historical understanding requires the faculties of both poet and philosopher Through an analysis of the changing thought and career of the Austrian poet librettist and essayist Hugo von Hofmannsthal 1874 1929 Broch attempts to define and analyze the major intellectual issues of the European fin de siècle a period that he characterizes according to the Nietzschean concepts of the breakdown of rationality and the loss of a central value system The result is a major examination of European thought as well as a comparative study of political systems and artistic styles
