The Diaries Of Hannah Cullwick Victorian Maidservant:

The Diaries of Hannah Cullwick, Victorian Maidservant Hannah Cullwick, 1833-1909 worked all her life as a maidservant scullion and pot girl In 1854 she met Arthur Munby man of two worlds upper class author and poet with a lifelong obsession for lower class women And so began their strange and secret romance of eighteen years and marriage of thirty six lived largely apart Hannah's diaries written on Munby's suggestion offer an absorbing account of life below stairs in Victorian England But they reveal too a woman of extraordinary independence of will whose chosen life of drudgery gave her the freedom not to play the Lady as Munby demanded Rescued from obscurity these diaries are a remarkable historical and personal document Class Fictions Pamela Fox, 1994-11-21 Many recent discussions of working class culture in literary and cultural studies have tended to present an oversimplified view of resistance In this groundbreaking work Pamela Fox offers a far more complex theory of working class identity particularly as reflected in British novels of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Through the concept of class shame she produces a model of working class subjectivity that understands resistance in a more accurate and useful way as a complicated kind of refusal directed at both dominated and dominant culture With a focus on certain classics in the working class literary canon such as The Ragged Trousered Philanthropists and Love on the Dole as well as lesser known texts by working class women Fox uncovers the anxieties that underlie representations of class and consciousness Shame repeatedly emerges as a powerful counterforce in these works continually unsettling the surface narrative of protest to reveal an ambivalent relation toward the working class identities the novels apparently champion Class Fictions offers an equally rigorous analysis of cultural studies itself which has historically sought to defend and value the radical difference of working class culture Fox also brings to her analysis a strong feminist perspective that devotes considerable attention to the often overlooked role of gender in working class fiction She demonstrates that working class novels not only expose master narratives of middle class culture that must be resisted but that they also reveal to us a need to create counter narratives or formulas of working class life In doing so this book provides a more subtle sense of the role of resistance in working class culture While of interest to scholars of Victorian and working class fiction Pamela Fox's argument has far reaching implications for the way literary and cultural studies will be defined and practiced New Essays on Life Writing and the Body Christopher Stuart, Stephanie Todd, 2009-03-26 In light of materialist revisions of the Cartesian dual self and the increased recognition of memoir and autobiography as a crucial cultural index the physical body has emerged in the last twenty five years as an increasingly inescapable object of inquiry speculation and theory that intersects all of the various subgenres of life writing New Essays on Life Writing and the Body thus offers a timely original focused and yet appropriately interdisciplinary study of life writing This collection brings together new work by established authorities in autobiography such as Timothy Dow Adams G Thomas Couser Cynthia Huff and others along with essays by emerging scholars in the field Subjects range from new interpretations of well known autobiographies by Edith Wharton Gertrude Stein and Lucy Grealy as well as scholarly surveys of more recently defined subgenres such as the numerous New Woman autobiographies of the late 19th century adoption narratives and sibling memoirs of the mentally impaired Due to their wide interdisciplinary focus these essay will prove valuable not only to more traditional literary scholars interested in the classic literary autobiography but also to those in Women s Studies Ethnic and African American Studies as well as in emerging fields such as Disability Studies and Cognitive Studies

The Sexual Contract Carole Pateman,2018-06-05 Carole Pateman is one of the foremost political theorists writing in English today In this outstanding new work she presents a major reinterpretation of modern political theory She shows how standard discussions of social contract theory tell only half the story The sexual contract which establishes modern patriarchy and the political right of men over women is never mentioned In a wide ranging and scholarly discussion Pateman examines the significance of the political fictions of the original contract and the slave contract She also offers a sweeping challenge to conventional understandings of both left and right of actual contracts in everyday life the marriage contract the employment contract the prostitution contract and the new surrogacy contract By bringing a feminist perspective to bear on the contradictions and paradoxes surrounding women and contract and the relation between the sexes she is able to shed new light on the fundamental problems of freedom and subordination The Sexual Contract will become a classic text in the politics of gender and will be of major interest to students of social and political theory and philosophy women s studies sociology and jurisprudence

English Prose of the Nineteenth Century Hilary Fraser,Daniel Brown,2017-07-12 Hilary Fraser provides a comprehensive and thorough survey of English prose in the nineteenth century which draws from a wide variety of fields including art literary theory and criticism biography letters journals sermons and travel reportage Through these works the cultural social literary and political life of the twentieth century a period of great intellectual activity can be charted discussed and assessed For the first time an inclusive critical survey of nineteenth century non fiction is presented that traces the century s ideological and cultural upheavals as they are registered in the literary textures of some of its most widely read and influential writings The book explores the relations between writers who are generally perceived as occupying different discursive spheres for example between John Stuart Mill Florence Nightingale and Mrs Beeton between Cardinal Newman Elizabeth Gaskell and Hannah Cullwick and between Charles Darwin David Livingstone and Henry Mayhew The establishment and development of different genres and their interactions over the century are clearly mapped The genre of the periodical essay a distinctively modern and flexible form catering to the mass readership is the subject of the introduction and then more specialist fields are discussed covering scientific writing travel and exploration literature social reportage biography autobiography journals letters religious and philosophical prose political writing and history

Servants' Stories Michelle Higgs,2015-09-30 True accounts by domestic servants though a century and a half of British history revealing what their lives were really like includes illustrations Step into the world of domestic service and discover what life was really like for these unsung heroines and heroes of society Between 1800 and 1950 the role of servants changed dramatically but they remained the people without whom the upper and middle classes could not function Through oral histories diaries newspaper reports and never before seen testimonies domestic servants tell their stories warts and all Downton it isn't You'll read about revenge on a mistress with a box of beetles the despair and loneliness of a fourteen year old maid the adventure of moving to London to go into service and an escape from an unhappy home life as well as the servant problem and how servants found work how National Insurance began to improve their lot the impact World War I had on domestic service and what was done to try to make the occupation appealing to a new generation Praise for Michelle Higgs previous books Enjoyable and well written social history Who Do You Think You Are Daily life is recounted with both historical detail and sympathy aided by numerous first person accounts Your Family Tree On Sexuality and Power Alan Sinfield, 2004 It is widely supposed that the most suitable partner will be someone very much like oneself gay fiction and cinema are often organized around this assumption Nonetheless power differentials are remarkably persistent as well as sexy What are the personal and political implications of this insight Sinfield argues that hierarchies in interpersonal relations are continuous with the main power differentials of our social and political life gender class age and race therefore it is not surprising that they govern our psychic lives Recent writing enables an exploration of their positive potential especially in fantasy as well as their danger On Sexuality and Power focuses on the writing of the last thirty years revisiting also Whitman Wilde Mann Forster and Genet and reassessing the very idea of a gay canon The Extraordinary Archive of Arthur J. Munby Sarah Edge, 2020-12-17 In the mid 1860s Arthur J Munby began to collect the first mass produced photographic images of working class women in England recording fascinating details about the women the places he purchased the photographs and the raging debates on this new commercial practice of photography in accompanying diaries Many of these images not to mention Munby's fascinating diaries have never been published before This book examines this previously uninvestigated archive offering a fresh and arresting perspective on the interrelationships between photographic representations of working class women the creation of new identities of class and gender and the evolution of popular conceptions of photography itself Country House Servant Pamela A Sambrook, 2002-05-13 One 19th century footman complained about the work involved in drawing more than 40 baths for his household yet Lady Grenville felt no compunction in describing her footman as a lazy flunkey For centuries a large body of domestic servants was an often unappreciated foundation for the smooth running of a household Today the warrens of domestic offices intrigue visitors This book makes sense of these and the social structures behind them It describes the skills equipment cleaning methods and work organization of the housemaid laundrymaid footman valet and hall boy the servants who spent their days polishing fine furniture and washing brilliant chandeliers but also sponging filthy riding habits and washing babies nappies The author also looks at how servants spent their leisure time One footman enjoyed rowing on the lake every morning before work while others had to sit up late at night sewing their own work dresses Contemporary manuals diaries accounts and first hand recollections provide a vivid insight into what life was really like for those in domestic service A wealth of photographs engravings and panels illustrate the domestic workings of country houses many now looked after by the National Trust This is an absorbing book for social historians and visitors to country houses alike Handbook on Gender in Asia Shirlena Huang, Kanchana N. Ruwanpura, 2020-07-31 The Handbook on Gender in Asia critically examines through a gender perspective five broad themes of significance to Asia the Theory and Practice of researching in Asia Gender Ageing and Health Gender and Labour Gendered Migrations and Mobilities and Gender at the Margins With each chapter providing an overview of the key intellectual developments on the issue under discussion as well as empirical examples to examine how the Asian case sheds light on these debates this collection will be an invaluable reference for scholars of gender and Asia
