

Dynamic Conception of Tradition: Its Value

- To judge the work of a poet or an artist, we must compare and contrast his work with the works of poets and artist in the past.
- Eliot's conception of tradition is a dynamic one.
- The relationship between the past and the present is not one-sided; it is a reciprocal relationship.
- "The existing monuments form an ideal order among themselves, which is modified by the introduction of the new (really new) work of art among them. The existing order is complete before the new work arrives; for order to persist after the supervention of novelty, the whole existing order must be, if ever so slightly, altered."
- Every great poet like Virgil, Dante, or Shakespeare, adds something to the literary tradition out of which the future poetry will be written.
