

Sociable Letters: Inequality in Social and Economic Status

Topic: Sociology | Words: 1093 | Pages: 4

Literacy in the twenty-first century is usually written in a literal manner, making it simple to deduce the story's meaning. Unlikely, Sociable Letters, published in 1664, is regarded as "a valuable virtual representation of the material and social factors of English literature in eighteenth-century England" (Sarasohn, 200). It portrayed literacy in the seventeenth century when monarchs and common people had a large gap between them so that nobles would write letters to each other about petty matters. Letter 55, for example, is a letter sent to an unknown wealthy friend to "express the humour of mankind" (Cavendish 106). Margaret Cavendish, the author of Sociable Letters, was the youngest of Sir Thomas Lucas's children and one of the few prominent female authors without a formal education. Cavendish tends to be a liberal, using satire and humour to criticize the social system and persuade her wealthy friend to see the truth of peasants' lives, oblivious of the difficulties peasants face in their pursuit of happiness in comparison to nobles.

Cavendish employs satire and humour to persuade her viewers of the monarch's ludicrous views. Cavendish uses her friend to illustrate the monarch's attitude toward the lower classes: "you did almost admire the peasants for working so happily" (Cavendish 106). Her friend considers the lives of peasants to be peaceful, but in fact, rich people are happier than poor folks. The amount of property owned by nobles is defined as "aspects of growth and high fortunes is not so easily handled" (Sarasohn, 209); in other words, the wealthy complain about having too much fortune to worry about, while the common people have none.
