Social Experience And Anthropological Knowledge:

Social Experience and Anthropological Knowledge Kirsten Hastrup, Peter Hervik, 2003-12-16 Anthropology poses an explicit challenge to standard notions of scientific knowledge. It claims to produce genuine insights into the workings of culture in general on the basis of individual social experience in the field. Social Experience and Anthropological Knowledge traces the process from the ethnographic experience to the analytical results showing how fieldwork enables the ethnographer to arrive at an understanding not only of culture and society but also of the processes by which cultures and societies are transformed. The contributors challenge the distinction between subjectivity and objectivity, redefine what we should mean by empirical, and demonstrate the complexity of present day epistemological problems through concrete examples. By demystifying subjectivity in the ethnographic process and re-emphasizing the vital position of fieldwork, they do much to renew confidence in the anthropological project of comprehending the world. Rural Transformations and Development - China in Context Norman Long, Jingzhong Ye, Yihuan Wang, 2010-01-01 Rural Transformations and Development: China in Context is a thoughtful book in both senses: penetrating and packed with ideas. True to its title, it takes the reader through the main socio-economic and political changes of Chinese rural society. The book brings together a selected group of authoritative international experts on agricultural development with particular reference to China. It is a good read for everyone and an eminently recommendable text for professionals and students interested in issues of China's rural change. Peter Ho, University of Groningen, The Netherlands. This is an insightful and excellent theoretical and empirical collection about China's contemporary agrarian transformation, critically studied not in isolation from either the urban sector or the broader world but in relation to these. It is a must-read for academics and development policy practitioners who are interested in agrarian and development issues in China in particular and the world more generally. Saturnino M. Borrás Jr., Saint Mary's University, Canada. Bringing together contributions by some of the leading Western scholars working on paths of rural transformation, with studies by their counterparts in China, this book examines the value of contemporary development theories for understanding the specificities of China's trajectory of change. It is a first class contribution both to Modern China studies and to the renaissance of international research on agrarian change that is now going on. It deserves a wide readership. John Harriss, Simon Fraser University at Vancouver, Canada. Interesting comparative perspectives are coupled to extensive on the ground research in this exploration of the vast changes underway in China's villages. This book by 19 specialists pushes forward our knowledge of the circumstances and challenges faced by an eighth of humankind. Jonathan Unger, Australian National University. This unique book explores the varied perspectives on contemporary processes of rural transformation and policy intervention in China. The expert contributors combine a critical review of current theoretical viewpoints and global debates with a series of case studies that document the specificities of China's pathways to change. Central issues focus on the dynamics of state peasant encounters, the diversification of labour and livelihoods, out migration and the blurring of rural and urban scenarios, the significance of issues of value and capital and their gender implications, land ownership and sustainable resource management, struggles between administrative cadres and local actors and the dilemmas of participatory development. Rural Transformations and Development: China in Context will prove a fascinating and stimulating read for academics and researchers in the areas of Asian studies, development and agriculture and public policy. Doing Sensory Ethnography

Sarah Pink, 2009-08-05. In this important and groundbreaking book, Sarah Pink suggests rethinking the ethnographic process through reflexive attention to what she terms the sensoriality of the experience, practice and knowledge of both researchers and those who participate in their research. The book provides an accessible analysis of the theoretical, methodological and practical aspects of doing sensory ethnography, drawing on examples and case studies from the growing literature on sensory ethnographic studies and from the author's own work. A Muslim Minority in Turkey. Lejla Voloder, 2018-07-30. Although Turkey is a secular state, it is often characterised as a Muslim country. In her latest book, Lejla Voloder provides an engaging and revealing study of a Bosniak community in Turkey, one of the Muslim minorities actually recognised by the state in Turkey. Under what circumstances have they resettled to Turkey? How do they embrace Islam? How does one live as a Bosniak, a Turkish citizen, a mother, a father, a member of a household and as one guided by Islam? The first book based on fieldwork to detail the lives of members of the Bosnian and Bosniak diaspora in Turkey. A Muslim Minority in Turkey makes a unique contribution to the study of Muslim minority groups in Turkey and the Middle East. Anthropology and Psychoanalysis. Ariane Deluz, Suzette Heald, 2002-09-11. Addresses the growing interest among anthropologists about self and subjectivity.

Anthropology, by Comparison. Richard G. Fox, Andre Gingrich, 2002-09-26. An international group of anthropologists take a fresh look at various neglected approaches to comparison and present new approaches that are relevant to the globalized world of the 21st century. Ethnographic Practice in the Present. Marit Melhuus, Jon P. Mitchell, Helena Wulff, 2010. In its assessment of the current state of play of ethnographic practice in social anthropology, this volume explores the challenges that changing social forms and changing understandings of the field pose to contemporary ethnographic methods.

These challenges include the implications of the remarkable impact social anthropology is having on neighboring disciplines such as history sociology cultural studies human geography and linguistics as well as the potential costs of this success for the discipline Contributors also discuss how the ethnographic method is influenced by current institutional contexts and historical traditions across a range of settings Here ethnography is featured less as a methodological tool box or technique but rather as a subject on which to reflect
