literary animal human relations began with Lewis Carroll's Alice's Adventures in Wonderland and continued with the work of Kenneth Grahame, Hugh Lofting, P. L. Travers, and E. B. White. Beginning with the ideas of literary theorist Mikhail Mikhailovich Bakhtin, this book examines ways in which animal characters gain an aura of authority through using language and then participate in reversals of power. The author provides a close reading of 10 acclaimed British and American children's fantasies or series published before 1975. Authors whose work has received little scholarly attention are also covered, including Robert Lawson, George Selden, and Robert C. O'Brien. Animal Talk 101 Lauren Bode, John Bell, 2005-12-01

The turbulent times of the sixties, unrequited love, a lack of parental understanding, and a dream of musical success influence the author as an innocent youth to set out on a hitchhiking journey around the country carrying only a guitar and a change of clothes with a stranger from Colorado. Reality clashes with naivete as a small town midwestern boy sees firsthand the real world turned on by sex, drugs, and rock n' roll; he finds the streets to be psychedelic. Animals Talking in All Caps Justin Valmassoi, 2013-08-06

A goat who wants to sell you some meth. A giraffe who might be violating his restraining order. An alpaca with a very dirty secret. A cat who's really mad at you for cancelling Netflix instant. These are just a few of the hilariously human animals you'll meet in Animals Talking in All Caps. Inspired by the wildly popular blog of the same name and including some of the site's best loved entries as well as gobs of never before seen material, these pages provide a brilliantly unhinged glimpse into the animal mind. Speaking for Animals Margo DeMello, 2013

This text contributes to the growing field of human-animal studies by examining the human impulse evidenced in blogs, social networking sites, video games, comic books, and animal welfare literature to ventriloquize the animal voice. Talking Animals in British Children's Fiction, 1786-1914 Tess Cosslett, 2006

Nineteenth-century scholars, children's literature specialists, and historians of science and childhood will engage with Tess Cosslett's examination of nineteenth-century debates about the human and animal in children's stories such as Black Beauty. Talk With the Animals Ann Walker, 2014
