Tangier Nights:

Our Arabian Nights on the Terrace Lisette Langlois, 2015-10-30 It is summer of 1968 a new music is in the air A Dionysian epidemic is spreading like wildfire all over the western world Seemingly overnight thousands of young people are waking up to leave behind security and consumerism heading East and South in search of truth and the miraculous An innocent girl from Northern Ontario meets a bad boy from New York They both take a big leap into wild adventures cruising the colorful roads of Morocco For years to come they immerse themselves together with a select group of friends in an exotic Islamic world adding new tales to the never ending collection of The Arabian Nights The book delivers a touching compassionate inside view into the Islamic culture being as it is a real life anthropological study of a recently demonized people Going deep into Moslem life butting heads with its patriarchic structure the author emerges victorious as an ardent feminist Ms Langlois is the mother of three two of which were in tow in their early years She studied the healing arts after returning to the US Besides writing she dedicates herself to healthy food organic farming and sustainable living in Hawaii

Streetwise Mohamed Choukri, 2012-08-20 In his early twenties Choukri takes the momentous decision to learn to read and write and joins a children's class at the local state school in Tangier When not at school he hangs out in cafés drinking and smoking kif Some nights he sleeps in a doss house but mostly he sleeps in mosques or on the street He befriends many lowlife characters while the café habitués help him with his Arabic and the local prostitutes take him home providing some human solace Choukri's determination to educate himself and his compassion for those with whom he shares his life on the streets is heartfelt and inspirational As a writer he is in an enviable position though he paid a high price for it in suffering Paul Bowles Choukri's irrepressible ultimately indomitable spirit is most touching and human The Independent Choukri is a powerful teller of stories His telling of oppression is vivid and remarkable Morning Star

The Beat Hotel Barry Miles, 2016-07-12 The Beat Hotel has been closed for nearly forty years But for a brief period from just after the publication of Howl in 1957 until the building was sold in 1963 it was home to Allen Ginsberg William Burroughs Gregory Corso Brion Gysin Peter Orlovsky Harold Norse and a host of other luminaries of the Beat Generation Now Barry Miles acclaimed author of many books on the Beats and a personal acquaintance of many of them vividly excavates this remarkable period and restores it to a historical picture that has until now been skewed in favor of the two coasts of America A cheap rooming house on the bohemian Left Bank the hotel was inhabited mostly by writers and artists and its communal atmosphere spurred the Beats to incredible heights of creativity Its inhabitants followed the Howl obscenity trial and they corresponded with Jack Kerouac as On the Road was taking off There Ginsberg wrote Kaddish To Aunt Rose At Apollinaire's Grave and The Lion for Real and Corso developed the mature voice of The Happy Birthday of Death The Beat Hotel is where the Cut up method was invented and where Burroughs finished and published Naked Lunch and the Cut up novels From a party where Ginsberg and Corso drunkenly accosted Marcel Duchamp and Man Ray to an awestruck audience with Louis Ferdinand Celine a year before he died from a drug-addled party on a houseboat on the Seine with Errol Flynn and John Huston to Burroughs's near arrest as a heroin dealer mischief inspiration and madness followed the Beats wherever they went Based on firsthand accounts from diaries letters and many original interviews The Beat Hotel is an intimate look at a crucial period for some of the twentieth century's most enduring and daring writers
