Geoffrey M. Hodgson, 2025-11-18 How the development of legal and financial institutions transformed Britain into the world's first capitalist country Modern capitalism emerged in England in the eighteenth century and ushered in the Industrial Revolution though scholars have long debated why Some attribute the causes to technological change while others point to the Protestant ethic liberal ideas and cultural change The Wealth of a Nation reveals the crucial developments in legal and financial institutions in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries that help to explain this dramatic transformation Offering new perspectives on the early history of capitalism Geoffrey Hodgson describes how for the emerging British economy

pressures from without were as important as evolution from within He shows how intensive military conflicts overseas forced the state to undertake major financial administrative legal and political reforms The resulting institutional changes not only bolstered the British war machine they fostered the Industrial Revolution Hodgson traces how Britain's war capitalism led to an expansion of its empire and a staggering increase in the slave trade and how the institutional innovations that radically transformed the British economy were copied and adapted by countries around the world A landmark work of scholarship The Wealth of a Nation sheds light on how external factors such as war gave rise to institutional arrangements that facilitated finance banking and investment and offers a conceptual framework for further research into the origins and consolidation of capitalism in England

The Age of Knowledge James Dzusah, Henry Etzkowitz, 2011-10-14 The Age of Knowledge emphasizes that the ongoing transformations of knowledge both within universities and for society more generally must be understood as a reflection of the larger changes in the constitutive social structures within which they are invariably produced translated and reproduced
