Tamara Walks On Water:

Tamara Walks on Water Shifra Horn, 2004 A beautifully written sensual and evocative book in the tradition of Amy Tan and Isabelle Allende rich in magic realism and folklore To understand the end you have to look for the beginning As a little girl in Jaffa Israel Tamara has an insatiable desire for stories constantly asking questions of those around her and demanding explanations However no one ever seems to give Tamara the whole story so instead she must piece together the various narratives herself in what will become a lifelong attempt to unravel the hidden secrets of her tangled family history and so bring some meaning to her own life Raised by her fiercely independent maternal grandmother Simcha who jealously guards her from others in particular her paternal grandmother Rashella Tamara's love of stories develops into a voracious appetite for life itself An impulsive passionate seeker of knowledge in all its forms nothing prepares her for the thrilling intensity and the danger of falling deeply madly in love for the first time Walking on Water Autumn Carpentier, 2016-12-08 For many years author Autumn Carpentier has lived by the motto Make the best of the worst In Walking on Water she tells how she has tried to fulfill that mantra while journeying through a host of painful experiences Her story spans a lifetime of events from early childhood to adulthood and shows how the unconditional love of God and His unwavering grace kept Carpentier from sinking into an abyss She shares a host of heartbreaking moments that she had to overcome including being uprooted from her family at an early age surviving cancer mourning the deaths of two brothers and dealing with the custody loss of her own children as well as many other battles Walking on Water narrates her inspirational story to show others who are experiencing despair emptiness and unbearable sorrow that with faith in God these challenges of heartbreak can be overcome Carpentier tells how it was much more than faith alone that helped her to survive It was about the lifeline provided when she felt herself sinking into life's raging storms and the miraculous journey of rising above to walk on water Post-war Jewish Women's Writing in French Lucille Cairns, 2017-12-02 How have French Jewish women reacted to the great traumas of the last century the Holocaust North African decolonization and the resulting migration of African Jews to France the Arab Israeli crisis and the aftermath of 9/11 Cairns's major new volume identifies the themes of books by French Jewish women from 1945 to the present day gauging to what extent they are dominated by informed by or relatively indifferent to these threatening events Thirty authors in particular serve as representatives of a great and greatly diverse pool divided not only as Ashkenazim or Sephardim but by origins scattered across Algeria Egypt Germany Hungary Morocco Poland Romania Russia Tunisia and Turkey Theirs is a transnational doubly diasporic and thus particularly complex paradigm in which feminism loyalty to family culture and to the traditions of Judaism often exists in tension with French Republican models of assimilation non differentiation and gender blindness Lucille Cairns is Professor of French Literature at the University of Durham Thicker Than Water Mark Chartrand, 2022-11-16 Gun violence in Gateway City is at an all time high The victims of the all out war for control of the drug trade are claiming the lives of the innocent Young children being gunned down by random gunfire is causing the newly elected tough on crime mayor to make bold decisions to shake up the Metro Police Department into getting results Enter Mitch Neely Mitch is the youngest homicide detective in the history of the MPD Mitch s first night on the job as a homicide detective is to respond to the random killing of a young girl an apparent victim of yet another act of senseless violence in the city s most troubled district Mitch arrives on the scene and is troubled by what he sees When he is tasked to talk to the victim s mother he promises her he will get the people responsible for the killing of her nine year old daughter a promise no homicide detective should ever make Desperate to keep his promise Mitch enlists the help of his cousin Lee A retired Army Ranger as well as an ex con recently released from prison As Mitch and Lee work together on this case they are met with answers that don t add up leading to more questions One of those questions being are these shootings truly collateral damage from a drug war The other leads the rookie homicide detective into a world of corruption that knows no end More importantly the killing of innocents may not be accidental but something sinister A level of evil so sick and twisted it causes Detective Mitch Neely to question his own commitment to his oath of protect and serve This case will truly test Mitch s commitment to the badge as well as the belief that when it comes to family is Blood truly Thicker Than Water
