Aitor Anduaga

Taming Of Distance New Zealands First International Communications:

The Taming of Distance Elisabeth Airey, 2005 On 19 February 1876 New Zealand became telegraphically linked to the world it joined the international Victorian internet Contact with Sydney now took only seconds and London less than 24 hours But unlike today when everybody is their own instant telegraphist in 1876 the system needed a small army of specially trained undersea cable operators THE TAMING OF DISTANCE tells the story of those people Englishmen Australians and New Zealanders who worked the cable first from an isolated rural coastal location near Nelson and later from Wellington central But it is far from a narrow story of undersea telegraphy It is set in the wider context of British ownership of the line and interaction with the New Zealand Government and particularly the New Zealand Telegraph Department It tells of a rapidly changing world of national and international telecommunications which by the time the line closed in 1932 bore little resemblance to that of 1876 Above all it tells how those men and later women and their families lived and worked as part of a unique international community

Communications/Media/Geographies Paul C. Adams, Julie Cupples, Kevin Glynn, André Jansson, Shaun Moores, 2016-09-19 Although there are human geographers who have previously written on matters of media and communication and those in media and communication studies who have previously written on geographical issues this is the first book length dialogue in which experienced theorists and researchers from these different fields address each other directly and engage in conversation across traditional academic boundaries The result is a compelling discussion with the authors setting out statements of their positions before responding to the arguments made by others One significant aspect of this discussion is a spirited debate about the sort of interdisciplinary area that might emerge as a focus for future work Does the already established idea of communication geography offer the best way forward If so what would applied or critical forms of communication geography be concerned to do Could communication geography benefit from the sorts of conjunctural analysis that have been developed in contemporary cultural studies Might a further way forward be to imagine an interdisciplinary field of everyday life studies which would draw critically on non representational theories of practice and movement Readers of Communications Media Geographies are invited to join the debate thinking through such questions for themselves and the themes that are explored in this book for example of space place meaning power and ethics will be of interest not only to academics in human geography and in media and communication studies but also to a wider range of scholars from across the humanities and social sciences

Wireless and Empire Aitor Anduaga, 2009-02-19 Although the product of a self proclaimed consensus politics the British Empire was always based on communications supremacy and the knowledge of the atmosphere Using the metaphor of a thread of five pieces representing the categories science industry government the military and the education this is the first book to study the relations between wireless and Empire throughout the interwar period It is also the first to make full use of the abundant archive material and rich sources existing in Britain and the Dominions The book examines the evolving connection between the development of imperial radio communications and atmospheric physics the expansion and strength of the British radio industry and its relationship with the elucidation of the ionosphere and the different extent to which Australia Canada and New Zealand managed to emulate the British model of radio R D in the interwar years The book ends with a highly original and provocative epilogue The realist interpretation of the atmosphere

To Tame the Hydra Adam Curle,1999 Wireless and Empire Aitor Anduaga Egaña,Aitor Anduaga,2009-02-19 Although the product of consensus politics the British Empire was based on communications supremacy and the knowledge of the atmosphere Focusing on science industry government the military and education this book studies the relationship between wireless and Empire throughout the interwar period Natural Experiments of History Jared Diamond,James A. Robinson,2012-11 In eight case studies by leading scholars in history archaeology business economics geography and political science the authors showcase the natural experiment or comparative method well known in any science concerned with the past on the discipline of human history That means according to the editors comparing preferably quantitatively and aided by statistical analyses different systems that are similar in many respects but that differ with respect to the factors whose influence one wishes to study The case studies in the book support two overall conclusions about the study of human history First historical comparisons have the potential for yielding insights that cannot be extracted from a single case study alone Second insofar as is possible when one proposes a conclusion one may be able to strengthen one s conclusion by gathering quantitative evidence or at least ranking one s outcomes from big to small and then by testing the conclusion s validity statistically Sail and Steam Lars U. Scholl,Merja-Liisa Hinkkanen,2017-10-18 This collection provides a tribute to the career of maritime historian Yrj Kaukiainen composed upon his retirement from the University of Helsinki It collects seventeen of his maritime essays written in English reprinted in order to celebrate his career and impact on the field of maritime history The selected essays encompass the following themes maritime Finland maritime labour sail steam coal and canvas the timber trade maritime communication and networks ship measurement and shipping statistics the economics of merchant shipping managerial skills in Finnish merchant fleets and international freight markets The collection primarily concerns Finnish shipping and the maritime relationships between Finland and the wider international community including the British timber trade the wider Baltic timber trade and Dutch shipping in relation to the Swedish Navigation Act The essays are prefaced by three tributes of Kaukiainen s career penned by Lars U Scholl Merja Liisa Hinkkanen and Lewis R Fischer respectively The volume concludes with a bibliography of Kaukiainen s work on maritime history in both Swedish and English from 1981 to 2003

The Handbook of New Zealand Mammals Carolyn King,David Forsyth,2021-01-20 The Handbook of New Zealand Mammals is the only definitive reference on all the land breeding mammals recorded in the New Zealand region including the New Zealand sector of Antarctica It lists 65 species including native and exotic wild and feral living and extinct residents vagrants and failed introductions It describes their history biology and ecology and brings together comprehensive and detailed information gathered from widely scattered or previously unpublished sources The description of each species is arranged under standardised headings for easy reference Because the only native land breeding mammals in New Zealand are bats and seals the great majority of the modern mammal fauna comprises introduced species whose arrival has had profound effects both for themselves and for the native fauna and flora The book details changes in numbers and distribution for the native species and for the arrivals it summarises changes in habitat diet numbers and size in comparison with their ancestral stocks and some of the problems they present to resource managers For this third edition the text and references have been completely updated and reorganised into Family chapters The colour section includes 14 pages of artwork showing all the species described and their main variations plus two pages of maps Maritime History at the Crossroads Frank

Broeze,2017-10-18 This volume seeks to critically review the contemporary state of maritime historiography as it stands at the volume s publication date of 1995 The volume is comprised of thirteen essays each focused on the recent research into the maritime concerns of a particular geographical location listed as follows Australia Canada China Denmark Germany Greece Ibero America India the Netherlands the Ottoman Empire Spain the United States and a final chapter concerning historians and maritime labour in Britain Australia and New Zealand One concern made evident by the collection is the lack of stable identity and cohesive aims within maritime history the subject holds many conflicting definitions and concepts The purpose of this volume is to explore the recent developments in maritime history plus the growth of scholarly interest to provide a beacon and stimulus for future work and to clearly direct and define maritime historiography toward a solid position in the field of history APAIS, Australian Public Affairs Information Service ,1989 Vol for 1963 includes section
