Teaching The Imperiled Profession:

Teaching-The Imperiled Profession Daniel Linden Duke,1984-01-01 What is it really like to be a teacher today Teaching The Imperiled Profession goes beyond conventional analyses to probe the profession and various threats to its viability Daniel L Duke has drawn on his own and current educational research including surveys of teacher opinion interviews with teachers and press coverage of educational issues to uncover and examine a complex array of factors that contribute to the troubled state of the profession and the unprecedented discouragement of its practitioners The book also analyzes traditional sources of support Teaching The Imperiled Profession provides prospective teachers with a realistic picture of the profession today It identifies a set of concerns on which citizens might reasonably focus attention in order to forestall any future deterioration It provides the educator administrator and policy maker with a comprehensive set of recommendations for revitalizing the profession The book also serves as a concise history of the teaching profession as it has developed in the United States during the twentieth century

Reflective Teaching Kenneth M. Zeichner, Daniel P. Liston, 2013-05-13 This volume outlines the assumptions and beliefs that distinguish the concept of the reflective teacher from the view of the teacher as passive and a mere technician a view that teacher education programs and schools have historically promoted The authors demonstrate how various conceptions of reflective teaching differ from one another They believe that it is only through teachers reflections on their own teaching that they become more skilled more capable and in general better teachers This is the first volume in the Reflective Teaching and the Social Conditions of Schooling series The major goal of both this book and of all of the volumes to follow in this series is to help teachers explore and define their own positions with regard to the topics and issues at hand within the context of the aims of education in a democratic society

Women Educators Patricia A. Schmuck, 1987-01-01 In all western countries women have made lasting and significant contributions to the educational enterprise Despite this most books on schools overlook and ignore these contributions The twelve chapters in this groundbreaking volume demonstrate that gender structuring in the schools is an international phenomenon The first volume to focus cross culturally on women educational professionals this book brings together the voices and observations of women educators from nine Western countries Included are descriptive data about the employment patterns of women in schools historical accounts of women s entrance to the public domain of teaching analyses of women s issues in teachers unions and feminist analyses of the educational profession

Teacher Evaluation Policy Daniel Linden Duke, 1995-01-01 Since the beginning of the school reform movement in the early 1980 s various efforts have been made to improve teacher evaluation Most of the initial efforts were designed to promote greater accountability They were characterized by research based performance standards sophisticated classroom observation procedures and extensive training More recently the focus of teacher evaluation has been expanded to include provisions for professional development Supporters of this trend have argued that accountability based evaluation diminishes in value as teachers gain experience and expertise Teacher Evaluation Policy presents case studies describing how new teacher evaluation policies have been created The contributors go behind the scenes to examine the complex negotiations between politicians and special interest groups that accompany policy making They identify the public and the private agendas guiding decision makers What emerges is a vivid portrait of professionals and politicians grappling over the control of education Accounts include the formulation of teacher evaluation policy in North Carolina Louisiana Connecticut Washington State and Great Britain The Art and Science of Portraiture Sara Lawrence-Lightfoot, Jessica Hoffmann Davis, 2002-10-17 The writing is beautiful the ideas persuasive and the picture it paints of the process of careful observation is one that every writer should read A rich and wonderful book American Journal of Education A landmark contribution to the field of research methodology this remarkable book illuminates the origins purposes and features of portraiture placing it within the larger discourse on social science inquiry and mapping it onto the broader terrain of qualitative research Jsl Vol 5-N5 JOURNAL OF SCHOOL

LEADERSHIP, 1995-09-01 The Journal of School Leadership is broadening the conversation about schools and leadership and is currently accepting manuscripts We welcome manuscripts based on cutting edge research from a wide variety of theoretical perspectives and methodological orientations The editorial team is particularly interested in working with international authors authors from traditionally marginalized populations and in work that is relevant to practitioners around the world Growing numbers of educators and professors look to the six bimonthly issues to deal with problems directly related to contemporary school leadership practice teach courses on school leadership and policy use as a quality reference in writing articles about school leadership and improvement Teacher Personal Theorizing Gail MacCutcheon, 1992-01-01 This book examines the relationship between teacher theorizing and teacher action as illustrated by the curricular and instructional practices of teachers The authors show that all teaching is guided by theory developed by the teachers Teachers could not begin to practice without some knowledge of the context of their practice and without ideas about what can and should be done in those circumstances In this sense teachers are guided by personal practical theories that structure their activities and guide them in making decisions This literature is very significant in explaining and interpreting many phenomena of schooling such as why teachers alter curriculum documents and other policies how inservice education can be improved how supervisors can help teachers to improve their practices and how administrators can become leaders to improve education This perspective has broad and specific implications for every facet of education Those interested in teacher education and development in supervision in curriculum and in administration will find it especially relevant

Hearings on the Reauthorization of the Higher Education Act United States. Congress. House. Committee on Education and Labor. Subcommittee on Postsecondary Education, 1984 International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration Kenneth A. Leithwood, Judith Chapman, P. Corson, P. Hallinger, Ann Hart, 2012-12-06 EDITORS This introduction to the International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration describes some of the motivation for developing the book and several assumptions on which is based much of the work represented in its 31 chapters A synopsis of the contents of those chapters is also provided SOME KEY ASSUMPTIONS It is sometimes suggested that the search for an adequate understanding of leadership is doomed to fail After all there is little evidence of agreement about the concept in spite of prodigious efforts dating back hundreds if not thousands of years Such a view is captured for example in Bennis observation that Of all the hazy and confounding areas in social psychology leadership theory undoubtedly contends for top nomination Probably more has been written and less is known about leadership than any other topic in the behavioural sciences 1959 page 259 We do not find this state of affairs discouraging nor entirely accurate and of course it did not prevent Bennis from proceeding either One reason for our desire to continue in the face of such discouraging words is that a great deal of leadership research aspires to develop a general theory a theory which applies to all or most domains of organized human activity This aspiration inevitably produces decontextualized and therefore abstract categories of practice Howard Gardner s 1995 depiction of leadership as story telling is a case in point Teacher Induction and Mentoring Gary P. DeBolt, 1992-01-01 Introduces the equipment and skills needed for painting in oils
