The Air Show at Brescia, 1909 Peter Demetz, 2025-08-22 An entrancing avant garde adventure at the dawn of the modern age In 1909 municipal authorities built an airfield in northern Italy and invited leading pilots to compete on it The show attracted thousands of spectators among them Giacomo Puccini and Gabriele d'Annunzio and reporters including amazingly Franz Kafka Max Brod and Luigi Barzini Peter Demetz's sparkling new book tells the enchanting story of what happened in the air and on the ground before during and after this amazing moment Kafka it turns out was a very precise observer of both the fragile new machines and the people who flocked to see them in action Demetz shows us the spectacle as Kafka reported it and also its unexpectedly melodramatic preparations amazing dirigibles and ace pilots the American Glenn Curtiss the Italian Mario Calderara and the reigning king of the skies Louis Blériot But above all Demetz wants to know what flying really meant to these visionaries of the air many political and imaginative issues were sent aloft at Brescia With discerning affection he elucidates Kafka's subtle ambiguities about the consequences of flight d'Annunzio's lust for power in aviation Puccini's enthusiasm for speedy escapes and Curtiss's modest heroism Illustrated with fascinating material from the show itself this provocative work reveals a vital point where art and technology met in imagining the future      Radiological Health Data and Reports , 1967      Radiation Data and Reports , 1967      Leviathan and the Air-Pump Steven Shapin, Simon Schaffer, 2011-08-15 Leviathan and the Air Pump examines the conflicts over the value and propriety of experimental methods between two major seventeenth century thinkers Thomas Hobbes author of the political treatise Leviathan and vehement critic of systematic experimentation in natural philosophy and Robert Boyle mechanical philosopher and owner of the newly invented air pump The issues at stake in their disputes ranged from the physical integrity of the air pump to the intellectual integrity of the knowledge it might yield Both Boyle and Hobbes were looking for ways of establishing knowledge that did not decay into ad hominem attacks and political division Boyle proposed the experiment as cure He argued that facts should be manufactured by machines like the air pump so that gentlemen could witness the experiments and produce knowledge that everyone agreed on Hobbes by contrast looked for natural law and viewed experiments as the artificial unreliable products of an exclusive guild The new approaches taken in Leviathan and the Air Pump have been enormously influential on historical studies of science Shapin and Schaffer found a moment of scientific revolution and showed how key scientific givens facts interpretations experiment truth were fundamental to a new political order Shapin and Schaffer were also innovative in their ethnographic approach Attempting to understand the work habits rituals and social structures of a remote unfamiliar group they argued that politics were tied up in what scientists did rather than what they said Steven Shapin and Simon Schaffer use the confrontation between Hobbes and Boyle as a way of understanding what was at stake in the early history of scientific experimentation They describe the protagonists divergent views of natural knowledge and situate the Hobbes Boyle disputes within contemporary debates over the role of intellectuals in public life and the problems of social order and assent in Restoration England In a new introduction the authors describe how science and its social context were understood when this book was first published and how the study of the history of science has changed since then Report of Department of Transportation Air Traffic Control Advisory Committee United States. Honorable Mention 2019 Victor Turner Prize in Ethnographic Writing given by the Society for Humanistic Anthropology Honorable Mention 2019 Sharon Stephens Prize given by the American Ethnological Society Examines the role that race played in the inception of the airline industry Empire in the Air is at once a history of aviation and an examination of how air travel changed lives along the transatlantic corridor of the African diaspora Focusing on Britain and its Caribbean colonies Chandra Bhimull reveals how the black West Indies shaped the development of British Airways Bhimull offers a unique analysis of early airline travel illuminating the links among empire aviation and diaspora and in doing so provides insights into how racially oppressed people experienced air travel The emergence of artificial flight revolutionized the movement of people and power and Bhimull makes the connection between airplanes and the other vessels that have helped make and maintain the African diaspora the slave ships of the Middle Passage the tracks of the Underground Railroad and Marcus Garvey's black owned ocean liner As a new technology airline travel retained the racist ideas and practices that were embedded in British imperialism and these ideas shaped every aspect of how commercial aviation developed from how airline routes were set to who could travel easily and who could not The author concludes with a look at airline travel today suggesting that racism is still enmeshed in the banalities of contemporary flight     Legislative Calendar United States.
