The Chicago School Johan Van Overtveldt, 2009-03-01 This admirably detailed and thoroughly welcome history provides a fascinating examination of a pivotal moment in the evolution of economic theory The Economist When Richard Nixon said We are all Keynesians now in 1971 few could have predicted that the next three decades would result in a complete transformation of the global economic landscape The transformation was led by a small relatively obscure group within the University of Chicago's business school and its departments of economics and political science These thinkers including Milton Friedman Gary Becker George Stigler Robert Lucas and others revolutionized economic orthodoxy in the second half of the 20th century dominated the Nobel Prizes awarded in economics and changed how business is done around the world Written by a leading European economic thinker The Chicago School is the first in depth look at how this remarkable group came together Exhaustively detailed it provides a close recounting of the decade by decade progress of the Chicago School's evolution As such it's an essential contribution to the intellectual history of our time
