The Akan (twi-fante) Language Florence Abena Dolphyne, 1988      The Akan (Twi-Fante) Language Florence Abena Dolphyne, 1988      The Languages of Ghana Mary E. Kropp Dakubu, 2015-06-03 First published in 1988 this book provides an easily accessible handbook of knowledge about the languages of Ghana their geographical distribution their relationships with each other the social patterns of their use and their structures Besides the general introduction it contains chapters on each of the individually recognised families of languages spoken in Ghana Gur Volta Como Gbe Ga Dangme Central Tongo and Mande An additional chapter outlines the use of non indigenous languages in the country      Aspect and Modality in Kwa Languages Felix K. Ameka, M.E. Kropp Dakubu, 2008-04-10 This book explores the thesis that in the Kwa languages of West Africa aspect and modality are more central to the grammar of the verb than tense Where tense marking has emerged it is invariably in the expression of the future and therefore concerned with the impending actualization or potentiality of an event hence with modality rather than the purely temporal sequencing associated with tense The primary grammatical contrasts are perfective versus imperfective The main languages discussed are Akan Dangme Ewe Ga and Twuli while Nzema Ahanta Likpe and Eastern Gbe are also mentioned Knowledge about these languages has deepened considerably during the past decade or so and ideas about their structure have changed The volume therefore presents novel analyses of grammatical forms like the so called S Aux O V Other or future constructions and provides empirical data for theorizing about aspect and modality It should be of considerable interest to Africanist linguists typologists and creolists interested in substrate issues      Intonation in African Tone Languages Laura J. Downing, Annie Rialland, 2016-11-07 This volume brings together two under investigated areas of intonation typology While tone languages make up to 70 percent of the world's languages only few have been explored for intonation And even though one third of the world's languages are spoken in Africa and most sub Saharan languages are tone languages recent collections on tone and intonation typology have almost entirely ignored African languages This book aims to fill this gap      The Phonological Representation of Suprasegmentals Koen Bogers, Harry van der Hulst, Marten Mous, 2016-09-26 No detailed description available for The Phonological Representation of Suprasegmentals      Fundamentals of Phonetics, Phonology and Tonology Rose-Juliet Anyanwu, 2008 This book is to some extent a reference work uniting theory and description It comprises four structured parts Phonetics Phonology Tonology and Specific African Sound Patterns By means of concrete examples the book describes and compares a wide range of basic and current issues and facts that are of utmost relevance for all persons working on language or linguistics as well as in related fields The book provides core instruments needed and used in the study of phonology and phonological analyses It discusses modern phonological theories Phonological issues and processes such as vowel harmony assimilation dissimilation lenition as well as fortition are explained Prosodic topics such as tone stress pitch and intonation are considered Issues in tonology include tonological analysis tonal behaviour and rules Special attention is given to specific sounds found in African languages      The Ghanaian linguistics nexus Christopher R. Green, Samson Lotven, 2024-06-17

There is a long and rich tradition of excellence in Ghanaian linguistics and the detailed study of Ghanaian languages. This tradition has expanded by leaps and bounds in recent years thanks in part to a cadre of renowned and highly productive Ghanaian linguists conducting research at universities around the globe as well as in Ghana itself. So too has the commitment to careful description, documentation and theorizing underlying this tradition been extended to the students that these scholars have trained. The papers in this volume reflect the vast reach of this research tradition grounded in but expanding beyond Ghanaian languages ranging from experimental phonetics to language description to political discourse analysis.

The Spiritual in the Secular Patrick Harries, David Maxwell, 2012-07-20 David Livingstone's visit to Cambridge in 1857 was seen as much as a scientific event as a religious one But he was by no means alone among missionaries in integrating mission with science and other fields of research Rather many missionaries were remarkable pioneering polymaths This collection of essays explores the ways in which late nineteenth and twentieth century missionaries to Africa contributed to various academic disciplines such as linguistics ethnography social anthropology zoology medicine and many more This volume includes an introductory chapter by the editors and eleven chapters that analyze missionary research and its impact on knowledge about African contexts Several themes emerge including many missionaries positive views of indigenous discourses and the complicated relationship between missionaries and professional anthropologists Contributors John Cinnamon Erika Eichholzer Natasha Erlank Deborah Gaitskell Patrick Harries Walima T Kalusa John Manton David Maxwell John Stuart Dmitri van den Bersselaar Honor Vinck The Asante World Edmund Abaka, Kwame Osei Kwarteng, 2021-05-30 The Asante World provides fresh perspectives on the Asante the largest Akan group in Southern Ghana and what new scholars are thinking and writing about the world the Asante made By employing a thematic approach the volume interrogates several dimensions of Asante history including state formation Asante Ahafo and Bassari Dagomba relations in the context of Asante northward expansion and the expansion to the south It examines the role of Islam which although extremely intense for just a short time had important ramifications Together the essays excavate key aspects of Asante political economy and culture exemplified in kola nut production the kente adinkra cloth types and their associated symbols proverbs and drum language The Asante World explores the Asante origins of Jamaican maroons Asante secular government contemporary politics of progress governance through the institution of Ahemaa or Queenmothers epidemiology and disease and education in the twentieth and twenty first centuries Featuring innovative and insightful contributions from leading historians of the Asante world this volume is essential reading for advanced undergraduates postgraduates and scholars concerned with African Studies African diaspora history the history of Ghana and the Gold Coast the history of Islam in Africa and Asante history The Oxford Handbook of Vowel Harmony Nancy A. Ritter, Harry van der

Hulst, 2024-10-17 This handbook provides a detailed account of the phenomenon of vowel harmony a pattern according to which all vowels within a word must agree for some phonological property or properties Vowel harmony has been central in the development of phonological theories thanks to its cluster of remarkable properties notably its typically unbounded character and its non locality and because it forms part of the phonology of most world languages The five parts of this volume cover all aspects of vowel harmony from a range of theoretical and methodological perspectives Part I outlines the types of vowel harmony and some unusual cases before Part II explores structural issues such as vowel inventories the interaction of vowel harmony and morphological structure and locality The chapters in Part III provide an overview of the various theoretical accounts of the phenomenon as well as bringing in insights from language acquisition and psycholinguistics while Part IV focuses on the historical life cycle of vowel harmony looking at topics such as phonetic factors and the effect of language contact The final part contains 31 chapters that present data and analysis of vowel harmony across all major language families as well as several isolates constituting the broadest coverage of the phenomenon to date

Predication in African Languages James Essegbey, Enoch O. Aboh, 2024-07-15 This book discusses patterns of predication and their grammatical and semantic implications in a variety of African languages It covers several prominent topics about predication in the languages including locative predication expressions of tense aspect and mood in relation to verbal complexes and verb serialisation verb semantics and nominalization of predicates The chapters take inspiration from Felix Ameka's approach to the study of language according to which the main task of a linguist is to collaborate with language users to understand communicative practices in different contexts and to uncover how these practices impact grammatical and semantic aspects of the language. Accordingly the descriptions and analyses in this book serve to understand language variation in different ecologies rather than to impose pre-established descriptive frames on less described languages. Together the chapters in the book represent a bird's eye view of predication strategies in various African languages and can therefore serve as readings for both introductory and advanced level courses on predication from a typological or comparative perspective.

New Dimensions in African Linguistics and Languages Paul A. Kotey, 1999
Presents the papers delivered during the Plenary Sessions at the 27th Annual Conference on African Linguistics. Contents cover issues relating to phonology, syntax, historical linguistics and language and society as well as pedagogical issues that relate to the learning and teaching of African languages.

Diversity in African languages Doris L. Payne, Sara Pacchiarotti, Mokaya Bosire, 2016-12-31
Diversity in African Languages contains a selection of revised papers from the 46th Annual Conference on African Linguistics held at the University of Oregon. Most chapters focus on single languages addressing diverse aspects of their phonology, morphology, semantics, syntax, information structure or historical development. These chapters represent nine different genera: Mande, Gur, Kwa, Edoid, Bantu, Nilotic, Gumuzic, Cushitic and Omotic. Other chapters investigate a mix of languages and families moving from typological issues to sociolinguistic and inter-ethnic factors that affect language and accent switching. Some chapters are primarily descriptive while others push forward the theoretical understanding of tone, semantic problems, discourse-related structures and other linguistic systems. The papers on Bantu languages reflect something of the internal richness and continued fascination of the family for linguists as well as maturation of research on the family. The distribution of other papers highlights the need for intensified research into all the language families of Africa including basic documentation in order to comprehend linguistic diversities and convergences across the continent. In this regard the chapter on Daatsi in Gumuzic stands out as the first ever published article on this hitherto unknown and endangered language found in the Ethiopian-Sudanese border lands.
