Teaching The Representation Of The Holocaust:

Teaching the Representation of the Holocaust Marianne Hirsch, Irene Kacandes, 2004 Can the story be told Jorge Semprun asked after his liberation from Buchenwald The question is addressed from many angles in this volume of essays on teaching about the Holocaust In their introduction Marianne Hirsch and Irene Kacandes argue that Semprun's question is as vital now and as difficult and complex as it was for the survivors in 1945 The thirty eight contributors to Teaching the Representation of the Holocaust come from various disciplines history literary criticism psychology film studies and address a wide range of issues pertinent to the teaching of a subject that many teachers and students feel is an essential part of a liberal arts education This volume offers approaches to such works as Jurek Becker's Jacob the Liar Roberto Benigni's Life Is Beautiful Anne Frank's diary Daniel Jonah Goldhagen's Hitler's Willing Executioners Claude Lanzmann's Shoah Primo Levi's Survival in Auschwitz Cynthia Ozick's The Shawl Dan Pagis's Written in Pencil in the Sealed Railway Car Art Spiegelman's Maus Steven Spielberg's Schindler's List Elie Wiesel's Night and Abraham Yehoshua's Mr Mani To the challenge How do we transmit so hurtful an image of our own species without killing hope and breeding indifference posed by Geoffrey Hartman in this volume the editors respond Only in the very human context of classroom interaction can we hope to avoid either false redemption or unending despair

The Routledge Handbook to Auschwitz-Birkenau Sarah M. Cushman, Joanne Pettitt, Dominic Williams, 2025-08-12 This handbook examines Auschwitz Birkenau as both a site and a symbol of Nazi genocide Scholars from a range of disciplinary perspectives consider Auschwitz's history by engaging with Holocaust historiography and its place in Holocaust memory and representation illustrating their mutual influence The chapters bring new insights to topics that other studies of Auschwitz have explored before such as the Sonderkommando the Czech family camp and literary representations of Auschwitz Other chapters cover recent developments and more neglected areas such as the experience and memory of Romani prisoners the fate of Soviet prisoners of war and Auschwitz's presence on social media The handbook also responds to a number of recent trends and new paradigms in Holocaust Studies including contributions from the fields of Environmental Studies Spatial Studies and Gender Studies As a crucial overview of the topic of Auschwitz Birkenau and an introduction to its most recent and fruitful scholarly approaches this handbook will be a valuable resource for undergraduates from second year and up as well as for graduate students and researchers seeking a survey of the field

Humanistic Pedagogy Across the Disciplines Amy E. Traver, Dan Leshem, 2018-09-26 This volume presents insights from five years of intensive Holocaust genocide and mass atrocity education at Queensborough Community College QCC of the City University of New York CUNY USA to offer four approaches Arts Based Textual Outcomes Based and Social Justice to designing innovative integrative and differentiated pedagogies for today's college students The authors cover the theoretical foundations of each approach and include faculty reflections on the programs instructional strategies and student reactions that brought the approaches to life across the disciplines

Representations of Anne Frank in American Literature

Rachael McLennan, 2016-08-05 This book explores portrayals of Anne Frank in American literature where she is often invoked if problematically as a means of encouraging readers to think widely about persecution genocide and victimisation often in relation to gender ethnicity and race It shows how literary representations of Anne Frank in America over the past 50 years reflect the continued dominance of the American dramatic adaptations of Frank's Diary in the 1950s and argues that authors feel compelled to engage with the problematic elements of these adaptations and their iconic power At the same time though literary representations of Frank are associated with the adaptations critics often assume that these texts unquestioningly perpetuate the problems with the adaptations This is not true This book examines how American authors represent Frank in order to negotiate difficult questions relating to representation of the Holocaust in America and in order to consider gender coming of age and forms of inequality in American culture in various historical moments and of course to consider the ways Frank herself is represented in America This book argues that the most compelling representations of Frank in American literature are alert to their own limitations and may caution against making Frank a universal symbol of goodness or setting up too easy identifications with her It will be of great interest to researchers and students of Frank the Holocaust in American fiction and culture gender studies life writing young adult fiction and ethics

The Holocaust in the Central European Literatures and Cultures since 1989 Reinhard Ibler, 2014-09-01 Holocaust Memory and Youth Performance

Erika Hughes, 2024-01-25 Through an examination of children's and youth plays and performances about the Holocaust from Germany Israel and the United States this book offers an entirely new way of looking at the vital role of youth performance in coping with the legacy of historical tragedy As the first book length critical examination of this subject

Holocaust Memory and Youth Performance considers plays that are produced by major theatre companies alongside performances written by young authors and pieces taken from the diaries and memoirs of those who experienced the Holocaust as children or adolescents. While youth focused plays about the Holocaust have been in the repertoires of top professional companies throughout the world for decades and continue to be performed in theatres, schools and community centers, they are often neglected in concentrated and comparative studies of Holocaust theatre. Erika Hughes fills this gap by examining plays including The Diary of Anne Frank and Ab heute hei t Du Sara, musicals, performances, scripts, a rock concert, a performance on Instagram, and pedagogically focused works of applied theatre, a diverse collection of performances for young audiences that tell the stories of young people who experienced the Holocaust. Adopting Hannah Arendt's notion of natality as a powerful framework, this study examines the ways in which youth theatre performances make a vital contribution to intergenerational witnessing and the collective memory of the Holocaust.

Teaching Film Lucy Fischer, Patrice Petro, 2012-07-27

Film studies has been a part of higher education curricula in the United States almost since the development of the medium. Although the study of film is dispersed across a range of academic departments, programs, and scholarly organizations, film studies has come to be recognized as a field in its own right. In an era when teaching and scholarship are increasingly interdisciplinary, film studies continues to expand and thrive, attracting new scholars and fresh ideas, direction, and research. Given the dynamism of the field, experienced and beginning instructors alike need resources for bringing the study of film into the classroom. This volume will help instructors conceptualize contemporary film studies in pedagogical terms. The first part of the volume features essays on theory and on representation, including gender, race, and sexuality. Contributors then examine the geographies of cinema and offer practical suggestions for structuring courses on national, regional, and transnational film. Several essays focus on interdisciplinary approaches, while others describe courses designed around genre, film noir, the musical, mode, animation, documentary, avant garde, film, or the formal elements of film, such as sound, music, and mise en sc ne. The volume closes with a section on film and media in the digital age, in which contributors discuss the opportunities and challenges presented by access to resources, media convergence, and technological developments in the field.
