How Civic Action Works Paul Lichterman, 2020-12-15 The ways that social advocates organize to fight unaffordable housing and homelessness in Los Angeles illuminated by a new conceptual framework for studying collective action How Civic Action Works renews the tradition of inquiry into collective social problem solving Paul

Lichterman follows grassroots activists nonprofit organization staff and community service volunteers in three coalitions and twelve organizations in Los Angeles as they campaign for affordable housing develop new housing or address homelessness. Lichterman shows that to understand how social advocates build their campaigns craft claims and choose goals we need to move beyond well established thinking about what is strategic. Lichterman presents a pragmatist inspired sociological framework that illuminates core tasks of social problem solving both contentious and noncontentious by grassroots and professional advocates alike. He reveals that advocates distinct styles of collective action produce different understandings of what is strategic and generate different dilemmas for advocates because each style accommodates varying social and institutional pressures. We see too how patterns of interaction create a cultural filter that welcomes some claims about housing problems while subordinating or delegitimizing others. These cultural patterns help solve conceptual and practical puzzles such as why coalitions fragment when members agree on many things and what makes advocacy campaigns separate housing from homelessness or affordability from environmental sustainability. Lichterman concludes by turning this action centered framework toward improving dialogue between social advocates and researchers. Using extensive ethnography enriched by archival evidence How Civic Action Works explains how advocates meet the relational and rhetorical challenges of collective action. Software Testing Dinesh Maidasani, 2007
