Stilwell and the American Experience in China Barbara W. Tuchman, 2017-01-24 Barbara W Tuchman won her second Pulitzer Prize for this nonfiction masterpiece an authoritative work of history that recounts the birth of modern China through the eyes of one extraordinary American General Joseph W Stilwell was a man who loved China deeply and knew its people as few Americans ever have Barbara W Tuchman's groundbreaking narrative follows Stilwell from the time he arrived in China during the Revolution of 1911 through his tours of duty in Peking and Tientsin in the 1920s and 30s to his return as theater commander in World War II when the Nationalist government faced attack from both Japanese invaders and Communist insurgents Peopled by warlords ambassadors and missionaries this classic biography of the cantankerous but level headed Vinegar Joe sparkles with Tuchman's genius for animating the people who shaped history Praise for Stilwell and the American Experience in China Tuchman's best book so large in scope so crammed with information so clear in exposition so assured in tone that one is tempted to say it is not a book but an education The New Yorker The most interesting and informative book on U S China relations a brilliant lucid and authentic account The Nation A fantastic and complex story finely told The New York Times Book Review Liberty, Property, and the Foundations of the American Constitution Ellen Frankel Paul, Howard Dickman, 1989-01-01 Cover title Liberty property the foundations of the American constitution Includes bibliographies and index The African American Experience during World War II Neil A. Wynn, 2010-05-16 Drawing on more than thirty years of teaching and research Neil A Wynn combines narrative history and primary sources as he locates the World War II years within the long term struggle for African Americans equal rights It is now widely accepted that these years were crucial in the development of the emerging Civil Rights movement through the economic and social impact of the war as well as the military service itself Wynn examines the period within the broader context of the New Deal era of the 1930s and the Cold War of the 1950s concluding that the war years were neither simply a continuation of earlier developments nor a prelude to later change Rather this period was characterized by an intense transformation of black hopes and expectations encouraged by real socio economic shifts and departures in federal policy Black self consciousness at a national level found powerful expression in new movements from the demand for equality in the military service to changes in the shop floor to the Double V campaign that linked the fight for democracy at home for the fight for democracy abroad As the nation played a new world role in the developing Cold War the tensions between America s stated beliefs and actual practices emphasized these issues and brought new forces into play More than a half century later this book presents a much needed up to date short and readable interpretation of existing scholarship Accessible to general and student readers it tells the story without jargon or theory while including the historiography and debate on particular issues The American
