In June 1992, the Middle East Institute of Johns Hopkins University organized a conference commemorating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Six-Day War. Just months after the Madrid peace conference, Arab and Israeli diplomats met under American auspices to discuss and debate the war that "no one wanted" but everyone knew would come.

Richard Parker, who was the American political counselor in Cairo during the Six-Day War, assembled an array of important people who played crucial roles at the time. The list is rather impressive and includes former intelligence chiefs Meir Amit and Richard Helms, a host of American, Arab, Israeli, and Soviet diplomats, and leading academics. Though it is stretching it to portray them as "individuals who were in policy-making positions" (p.xi), the participants held senior positions in respective governments and contributed to some of the key decisions concerning the war. The organizers of the conference should be commended for their willingness to disseminate the illuminating discussions with the larger Middle East audience.
