Christianity, Empire, and the Making of Religion in Late Antiquity Jeremy M. Schott, 2013-04-23 In Christianity Empire and the Making of Religion in Late Antiquity Jeremy M Schott examines the ways in which conflicts between Christian and pagan intellectuals over religious ethnic and cultural identity contributed to the transformation of Roman imperial rhetoric and ideology in the early fourth century C E During this turbulent period which began with Diocletian's persecution of the Christians and ended with Constantine's assumption of sole rule and the consolidation of a new Christian empire Christian apologists and anti Christian polemicists launched a number of literary salvos in a battle for the minds and souls of the empire Schott focuses on the works of the Platonist philosopher and anti Christian polemicist Porphyry of Tyre and his Christian respondents the Latin rhetorician Lactantius Eusebius bishop of Caesarea and the emperor Constantine Previous scholarship has tended to narrate the Christianization of the empire in terms of a new religion's penetration and conquest of classical culture and society The present work in contrast seeks to suspend the static essentializing conceptualizations of religious identity that lie behind many studies of social and political change in late antiquity in order to investigate the processes through which Christian and pagan identities were constructed Drawing on the insights of postcolonial discourse analysis Schott argues that the production of Christian identity and in turn the construction of a Christian imperial discourse were intimately and inseparably linked to the broader politics of Roman imperialism Balance of the Heart Lois

Metaphysics Adrian Pabst,2012-05-04 This book does nothing less than to set new standards in combining philosophical with political theology Pabst s argument about rationality has the potential to change debates in philosophy politics and religion from the foreword This comprehensive and detailed study of individuation reveals the theological nature of metaphysics Adrian Pabst argues that ancient and modern conceptions of being or individual substance fail to account for the ontological relations that bind beings to each other and to God their source On the basis of a genealogical account of rival theories of creation and individuation from Plato to postmodernism Pabst proposes that the Christian Neo Platonic fusion of biblical revelation with

Greco Roman philosophy fulfills and surpasses all other ontologies and conceptions of individuality Early Christian Thinkers Paul Foster, 2012-04-10 This book introduces twelve key Christians from the second and third centuries a formative period for the Church These figures are Justin Martyr Irenaeus Tatian Theophilus of Antioch Clement of Alexandria Tertullian Perpetua Origen Hippolytus Cyprian Gregory Thaumaturgos and Eusebius Each chapter is self contained and requires no preliminary knowledge of the figure under discussion making this an ideal book for laity and for undergraduates studying Christian origins or Patristics City of Gods: The New Jerusalem of John's Revelation in Early Christianity Nathan Betz, 2025-02-03 This is the story of the great and final city of John's Revelation Plumbing the first three centuries of Christian literature this careful narrative highlights the early significance of one of the most influential evocative and controversial images in Christian scripture Chronicling how dozens of early writers from Justin and Irenaeus to Origen and Methodius and from the Montanists to Tertullian Victorinus and Lactantius imagined and applied the coming New Jerusalem the study demonstrates how the city regardless of its myriad and often competing interpretations always pointed to the highest possible union of God and humanity both here and now and in the age to come
