Collins, 1983 Desire for Development Barbara Heron, 2007-12-04 In Desire for Development Whiteness Gender and the Helping Imperative Barbara Heron draws on poststructuralist notions of subjectivity critical race and space theory feminism colonial and postcolonial studies and travel writing to trace colonial continuities in the post development recollections of white Canadian women who have worked in Africa Following the narrative arc of the development worker story from the decision to go overseas through the experiences abroad the return home and final reflections the book interweaves theory with the words of the participants to bring theory to life and to generate new understandings of whiteness and development work Heron reveals how the desire for development is about the making of self in terms that are highly raced classed and gendered and she exposes the moral core of this self and its seemingly paradoxical necessity to the Other The construction of white female subjectivity is thereby revealed as contingent on notions of goodness and Othering played out against and constituted by the backdrop of the NorthSouth binary in which Canada s national narrative situates us as the good guys of the world Time's Lie Leo Cookman, 2020-05-01 Why are facts and statistics disparaged and dismissed now more than ever Why do people trust fake news If we have had enough of experts who should we listen to Rather than the possible collapse of modern society could this be an opportunity to look at not just society but our own lives in a different way Whoever controls the narrative is the one who is in control Time's Lie analyses the history the science and the philosophy behind the creation of linear stories or Narrativisation as this book dubs it Oxford Dictionary of Reference and Allusion Andrew

English Solved Papers & Practice Book (2023-24 JSSC PGTTC) YCT Expert Team , 2023 24 JSSC PGTTC English Solved Papers Practice Book State Failure, Sovereignty And Effectiveness Gérard Kreijen, 2004 This comprehensive study of State failure upholds that the collapse of States in sub Saharan Africa is a self inflicted problem caused by the abandonment of the principle of effectiveness during decolonization On the one hand the abandonment of effectiveness may have facilitated the recognition of the new African States but on the other it did lead to the creation of States that were essentially powerless some of which became utter failures Written in a style both provocative and unorthodox and using convincing arguments this study casts doubt on some of the most sacred principles of the modern doctrine of international law It establishes that the declaratory theory of recognition cannot satisfactorily explain the continuing existence of failed States It also demonstrates that the principled assertion of the right to self determination as the basis for independence in Africa has turned the notion of sovereignty into a formal legal figment without substance This book is a plea for more realism in international law Pensive pessimists in the tradition of Hobbes will probably love it Idealists in the tradition of Grotius may hate it but they will find it very difficult to reject its conclusions Sustainable Civilization Klaas Van Egmond, 2014-08-19 In order to be sustainable a civilization must maintain the balance between mind and matter and between the egocentric I and the others This book investigates how new institutional arrangements in politics economy and finance can resolve the current crisis of social values by restoring this delicate balance between opposing forces Bones of the Ancestors Brian Egloff, 2008 The 3 500 year old Ambum Stone from Papua New Guinea is the focus of several archaeological stories The stone itself is an interesting artifact an important piece of art history that tells us something about the ancient Papuans The stone is also at the center of controversies over the provenance and ownership of ancient artifacts as it was excavated on the island of New Guinea transferred out of the country and sold on the antiquities market In telling the story of the Ambum Stone Brian Egloff raises questions about what can be learned from ancient works of art about cultural property and the ownership of the past about the complex and at times shadowy world of art dealers and collectors and about the role ancient artifacts can play in forming the identities of modern peoples Book jacket
