

SOCIAL CONSTRUCTION OF RACE

The social construction of race is a sociological concept that holds that the category of race is defined in language and culture rather than objective or biological fact (Gergen, 2015).

DEFINITION

"Race is a recent human invention, a social construct designed to divide members of a society into a hierarchy of social, economic, and political advantage or disadvantage based on a set of randomly selected normal human variations in phenotype."

(Feldman et al., 2022)

EXAMPLE

Italians as whites - Dewhurst (2008) has demonstrated how Italians were not seen as white people in early colonial Australia. As a result, they faced increased discrimination. Over time, as Italian-Australians assimilated and influx of darker-skinned migrants arrived, Italians slowly became included in the category of whiteness in Australian discourse.

The Concept Of Race

E. Nathaniel Gates

The Concept Of Race:

The Concept of Race Ashley Montagu, 1967 The Concept of Race in Natural and Social Science E. Nathaniel Gates, 2014-05-01 Explores the concept of race The term race which originally denoted genealogical or class identity has in the comparatively brief span of 300 years taken on an entirely new meaning In the wake of the Enlightenment it came to be applied to social groups This ideological transformation coupled with a dogmatic insistence that the groups so designated were natural and not socially created gave birth to the modern notion of races as genetically distinct entities The results of this view were the encoding of race and racial hierarchies in law literature and culture How racial categories facilitate social control The articles in the series demonstrate that the classification of humans according to selected physical characteristics was an arbitrary decision that was not based on valid scientific method They also examine the impact of colonialism on the propagation of the concept and note that racial categorization is a powerful social force that is often used to promote the interests of dominant social groups Finally the collection surveys how laws based on race have been enacted around the world to deny power to minority groups A multidisciplinary resource This collection of outstanding articles brings multiple perspectives to bear on race theory and draws on a wider range of periodicals than even the largest library usually holds Even if all the articles were available on campus chances are that a student would have to track them down in several libraries and microfilm collections Providing of course that no journals were reserved for graduate students out for binding or simply missing This convenient set saves students substantial time and effort by making available all the key articles in one reliable source Authoritative commentary The series editor has put together a balanced selection of the most significant works accompanied by expert commentary A general introduction gives important background information and outlines fundamental issues current scholarship and scholarly controversies Introductions to individual volumes put the articles in context and draw attention to germinal ideas and major shifts in the field After reading the material even a beginning student will have an excellent grasp of the basics of the subject The Idea Of Race Michael Banton, 2019-07-16 This book deals with the study of race relations as a general body of knowledge which tries to bring together in a common framework studies of group relations in different countries It explores the intellectual context within which the old conception of race relations arose The Concept of "race" in Natural and Social Science E. Nathaniel Gates, 1997 First Published in 1997 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company The Concept of Race in International Criminal Law Carola Lingaas, 2019-09-19 Members of racial groups are protected under international law against genocide persecution and apartheid But what is race and why was this contentious term not discussed when drafting the Statute of the International Criminal Court Although the law uses this term is it legitimate to talk about race today let alone convict anyone for committing a crime against a racial group This book is the first comprehensive study of the concept of race in international criminal law It explores the theoretical underpinnings for the crimes of genocide apartheid and persecution and analyses all the relevant legal instruments case law and scholarship It exposes how the international criminal tribunals have largely circumvented the topic of race and how incoherent jurisprudence has resulted in inconsistent protection The book provides important new interpretations of a problematic concept by subjecting it to a multifaceted and interdisciplinary analysis The study argues that race in international criminal law should be constructed according to the perpetrator s perception of the victims ostensible racial otherness The perpetrator s imagination as manifested through his behaviour defines the victims racial group membership It will be of interest to students and practitioners of international criminal law as well as those studying genocide apartheid and race in domestic and international law
