The Construction Of Intercultural Discourse Utrecht Studies In Language And Communication :

The construction of intercultural discourse Tom Koole, Jan D. ten Thije, 2020-10-12 This book breaks open the black box of the workplace where successful immigrants work together with their Dutch colleagues In their intercultural team meetings the work itself consists of communication and the question is how that work is done The teams consist of Dutch Turkish Moroccan and Surinamese educational experts whose job it is to advise schools and teachers on the form and content of language teaching Their meetings are structured according to institutional patterns such as interactive planning and reporting and according to intercultural discourse structures For instance Dutch team members identify their immigrant colleagues as immigrant specialists and are themselves identified as institutional specialists Further the intercultural pattern thematizing and unthematizing racism provides the team members with communicative methods to deal with the societal contradictions that exist between different cultural groups in the Netherlands as well as elsewhere These intercultural discourse structures concur with the institutional patterns so that for instance they affect the outcomes of planning discussions Most studies on intercultural communication focus on misunderstandings and miscommunications This book demonstrates that also communication without miscommunication can be shown to be intercultural

Acquisition in Interlanguage Pragmatics Anne Barron, 2003 This study reports on an investigation designed to in some way meet the need for acquisition research in L2 pragmatics in particular in the form of longitudinal studies and also to meet the need for research into the acquisition of L2 pragmatic competence in German Specifically it concerns a longitudinal study in which the development of the L2 pragmatic competence of a group of 32 Irish learners of German is investigated over ten months spent studying in the target speech community Germany The study is anchored in the field of interlanguage pragmatics and the approach taken is speech act based interest focusing on productions of requests offers and refusals of offers The study also draws on research from discourse analysis in the investigation of offer refusal of offer exchanges The objective of this study was to record any developments whether towards or away from the L2 norm in the L2 pragmatic competence of the current group of learners over time spent in the target community

Enhancing Intercultural Communication in Organizations Roos Beerkens, Emmanuelle Le Pichon-Vorstman, Roselinde Supheert, Jan Ten Thije, 2020-06-01 This book provides a qualitative analysis of the process of consultancy to prove how intercultural communication can solve issues rising from multiculturalism in organizations and policymaking Experts in intercultural consultancy examine 12 different cases from real situations focusing on interviews with clients and the way advice is presented and discussed with them and on collected data and the process by which it is gathered The book proves how the mechanisms of intercultural communication can be used to foster respectful relationships between people of different cultural and linguistic backgrounds and contribute to the success of the project or organization in question This book will be a key resource for scholars and students involved in intercultural communication management and consultancy as well as professionals that are confronted in their work with diversity and would like to know more about intercultural consultancy Additional questions for discussion and readings are available as e resources on the Routledge Website

Handbook of Interpersonal Communication Gerd Antos,Eija Ventola,2008-12-10 Interpersonal communication IC is a continuous game between the interacting interactants It is a give and take a continuous dynamic flow that is linguistically realized as discourse as an on going sequence of interactants moves Interpersonal communication is produced and interpreted by acting linguistically and this makes it a fascinating research area The handbook Interpersonal Communication examines how interactants manage to exchange facts ideas views opinions beliefs emotion etc by using the linguistic systems and the resources they offer In interpersonal communication the fine tuning of individuals use of the linguistic resources is continuously probed The language used in interpersonal communication enhances social relations between interactants and keeps the interaction on the normal track When interaction gets off the track linguistic miscommunication may also destroy social relationships This volume is essentially concerned with this fine tuning in discourse and how it is achieved among various interactant groups The volume departs from the following fundamental questions How do interpersonal relations manifest themselves in language What is the role of language in developing and maintaining relationships in interpersonal communication What types of problems occur in interpersonal communication and what kind of strategies and means are used to solve them How does linguistically realized interpersonal communication interact with other semiotic modes Interpersonal communication is seen and researched from the perspective of what is being said or written and how it is realized in various generic forms The current research also gives attention to other semiotic modes which interact with the linguistic modes It is not just the social roles of interactants in groups the possible media available the non verbal behaviors the varying contextual frames for communication but primarily the actual linguistic manifestations that we need to focus upon when we want to have a full picture of what is going on in human interpersonal communication It is this linguistic perspective that the volume aims to present to all researchers interested in IC The volume offers an overview of the theories methods tools and resources of linguistically oriented approaches e g from the fields of linguistics social psychology sociology and semiotics for the purpose of integration and further development of the interests in IC Topics e g Orientation to interaction as primarily linguistically realized processes Expertise on theorizing and analyzing cultural and situational contexts where linguistic processes are realized Expertise on handling language corpora Expertise on theorizing and analyzing interaction types as genres Orientation to an integrated view of linguistic and non linguistic participant activities and of how interactants generate meanings and interact with space Expertise on researching the management of the linguistic flow in interaction and its successfulness

Beyond Misunderstanding Kristin Bührig,Jan D. ten Thije,2006-05-09 This book challenges two tacit presumptions in the field of intercultural communication research Firstly misunderstandings can frequently be found in intercultural communication although one could not claim that intercultural communication is constituted by misunderstandings alone This volume shows how new perspectives on linguistic analyses of intercultural communication go beyond the analysis of misunderstanding Secondly intercultural communication is not solely constituted by the fact that individuals from different cultural groups interact Each contribution of this volume analyses to what extent instances of discourse are institutionally and or interculturally determined These linguistic reflections involve different theoretical frameworks e g functional grammar systemic functional linguistics functional pragmatics rhetorical conversation analysis ethno methodological conversation analysis linguistic anthropology and a critical discourse approach As the contributions focus on the discourse of genetic counseling gate keeping discourse international team co operation international business communication workplace discourse internet communication and lamentation discourse the book exemplifies that the analysis of intercultural communication is organized in response to social needs and therefore may contribute to the social justification of linguistics

Multilingual Communication Juliane House, Jochen Rehbein, 2004-12-23 In a world of increasing migration and technological progress multilingual communication has become the rule rather than the exception This book reflects the growing interest in understanding communication between members of different linguistic groups and contains a collection of original papers by members of the German Science Foundation's research center on multilingualism at Hamburg University and by international experts offering an overview of the most important research fields in multilingual communication The book is divided into four sections dealing with interpreting and translation code switching in various institutional contexts two important strands of multilingual communication rapport and politeness and contrastive studies of Japanese and German grammar and discourse The editors preface presents the relevant theoretical and methodological background to the issues discussed in this book and points to useful directions for future research Discourse Analysis and Evaluation, 2022-02-28 Functional approaches to the study of language may not only be used to characterize discourse structures but also to assess their communicative quality In fact discourse analysis and evaluation are conceptually related activities In this volume the link between analysis and evaluation is explored in seven studies discussing a variety of discourse genres like package inserts telephone openings survey interviews meetings government brochures and direct mail letters The analytical concepts used stem from different strands of research into language including cognitive linguistics pragmalinguistics conversational analysis and persuasion research Writing Business Francesca Bargiela-Chiappini, Catherine Nickerson, 2014-06-11 Writing Business Genres Media and Discourses offers an analysis of the genres and functions of written discourse in the business context involving a variety of modes of communication The evolution of new forms of writing is a key focus of this collection and is only partly attributable to the ever increasing application of technology at work Alongside machine mediated texts such as electronic mail and computer generated correspondence the contextualised analyses of both traditional genres such as facsimiles and direct mailing and of lesser studied texts such as invitations for bids contracts business magazines and ceremonial speeches reveal a rich complexity in the forms of communication evolved by organisations and the individuals who work within them in response to the demands of the social organisational and cultural contexts in which they operate This rich textual variation is matched by a discussion of a range of methodological approaches to the development of business writing skills including rhetorical analysis organisational communication analysis social constructionism genre analysis and survey and experimental methods Using authentic data and benefiting from a fresh interdisciplinary approach the volume will be of interest to students and researchers of business communication Language for Specific Purposes LSP English for Specific Purposes ESP and sociolinguistics

Chinese-Dutch Business Negotiations Xiangling LI, 2021-11-22 The Chinese are known as an inscrutable people in the West With the rapid globalisation of world business China with its booming economy and as one of the world's largest emerging markets is attracting increasing numbers of international traders and investors Various sources have shown that language and culture are among other factors two of the major obstacles to successful business collaborations between the Chinese and Westerners This dissertation aims to help remove these obstacles by offering some insights into the intricate mechanisms of business negotiation between the Chinese and the Dutch While most of the research concerning Chinese Western communication has used everyday conversation as the subject of study this research chooses negotiation the core of international business as its subject Micro level qualitative discourse analyses are used as the main research method in addition to ethnographic methods such as the questionnaire survey and interview The main data used are simulated as well as real life video taped Chinese Dutch business negotiations Questionnaire survey and interview data from real life Chinese and Dutch negotiators are used as support data The phenomena recurrently cropping up across the negotiations are examined at a turn to turn level to pinpoint places where problems arise that prevent the negotiators from reaching mutual understandings and fulfilling negotiation goals The deep rooted cultural concepts underlying the linguistic phenomena prove to be the main trouble sources The results of this research are relevant for both the academic and business world

Passive and perspective Louise H. Cornelis, 2022-06-08 The passive construction in Dutch represents a long standing problem both in linguistics and in written communications This book proposes a new analysis of the passive in Dutch integrating insights from theoretical especially cognitive linguistics and rhetoric composition The point of departure is the observation that the Dutch passive has a demonstrable perspective effect in texts the passive discourages identification with the agent and this in fact is the meaning of the Dutch passive construction This meaning forms the basis for a solution to a number of text problems including the problem of how to best use the passive in computer manuals We can also understand the passive's role in specific texts For example it becomes clear why policy paper writers use so many passives Finally in one of the case studies it is shown why passives were used differently in the NRC Handelsblad a Rotterdam daily newspaper and in the Parool from Amsterdam when they both reported that Ajax Amsterdam's football team became the national soccer champion
