Interpreting As Interaction Cecilia Wadensjö, 2014-06-06 Interpreting in Interaction provides an account of interpreter mediated communication exploring the responsibilities of the interpreter and the expectations of both the interpreter and of other participants involved in the interaction. The book examines ways of understanding the distribution of responsibility of content and the progression of talk in interpreter mediated institutional face to face encounters in the community interpreting context. Bringing attention to discursive and social practices prominent in modern society but largely unexplored in the existing literature, the book describes and explains real life interpreter mediated conversations as documented in various public institutions such as hospitals and police stations. The data show that the interpreter's prescribed role as a non participating non person does not and cannot always hold true. The book convincingly argues that this in one sense exceptional form of communication can be used as a magnifying glass in the grounded study of face to face institutional interaction. More generally, Cecilia Wadensjö explains and applies a Bakhtinian dialogic theory of language and mind and offers an alternative understanding of the interpreter's task as one consisting of translating and co ordinating and of the interpreter as an engaged actor solving problems of translatability and problems of mutual understanding in situated social interactions. Teachers and students of translation and interpretation studies including sign language interpreting applied linguistics and sociolinguistics will welcome this text. Students and professionals within law medicine and education will also find the study useful to help them understand the role of the interpreter within these frameworks. Prison Discourse A. Mayr, 2003-12-19 With unique and powerful data from within a big city prison, this book clarifies the role that conversational analysis can have within a Critical Discourse Analysis perspective. In a detailed linguistic analysis of the language use of prison officers and prisoners involved in a prison based course, the author charts the shifting power relations of control and resistance and situates the findings in a broader sociological analysis of the prison as an institution. The study will interest sociolinguists, discourse analysts and researchers in communication studies, criminology and counselling.

Mediated Discourse as Social Interaction Ron Scollon, 2014-06-11 Mediated Discourse as Social Interaction makes an explicit link between media studies and social interactionist discursive research where previously the two fields of study have been treated as separate disciplines. This text presents an integrated theory illustrated by ample concrete examples bringing together the latest research in these two fields. It offers a critique to the sender receiver model implicit in media studies and argues for an analysis of media discourse as social interaction on the one hand among journalists and newsmakers as a community of practice and among readers and viewers as a spectating community of practice on the other. The book also argues for a coherent and interdiscursive methodology for the ethnographic study of the role of the news media in the social construction of identity and is based on a considerable body of ethnographic and textual analysis of both print and television news media. The theory of mediated discourse presented in this volume will be of great interest to advanced undergraduates and postgraduates studying media studies, sociology of language, discourse analysis, interactional sociolinguistics, ethnography of communication and applied linguistics It will also be welcomed by scholars and professionals involved in research in these areas

The Senses of Scripture Yael Avrahami,2012-06-15 The Senses of Scripture reveals the essence of biblical epistemology the ways in which ancient Israelites thought about and used their sensorium The theoretical introduction demonstrates that scholars need to liberate themselves from the Western bias that holds a pentasensory paradigm and prioritises the sense of sight The discussion of the biblical material demonstrates that biblical scholars should follow a similar path Through examination of associative and contextual patters the author reaches a septasensory model including sight hearing speech kinaesthesia touch taste and smell It is further demonstrated that the senses according to the HB are a divinely created physical experience which symbolised human ability to act in a sovereign manner in the world Despite the lack of a biblical Hebrew term sense it seems that at times the merism sight and hearing serves that matter Finally the book discusses the longstanding dispute regarding the primacy of sight vs hearing and claims that although there is no strict sensory hierarchy evident in the text sight holds a central space in biblical epistemology

The Cultural Politics of English as an International Language Alastair Pennycook,2014-06-03 Covering a wide range of areas including international politics colonial history critical pedagogy postcolonial literature and applied linguistics this book examines ways to understand the cultural and political implications of the global spread of English Firstly it explores how a particular view of English as an international language has come into being by examining its colonial origins its connections to linguistics and applied linguistics and its relationships to the global spread of teaching practices It then offers an alternative critical understanding through the concept of the worldliness of English This concept suggests that English can never be removed from the social cultural economic or political contexts in which it is used

Dialogic Organization Development Gervase R. Bushe,Robert J. Marshak,2015-05-26 A Dynamic New Approach to Organizational Change Dialogic Organization Development is a compelling alternative to the classical action research approach to planned change Organizations are seen as fluid socially constructed realities that are continuously created through conversations and images Leaders and consultants can help foster change by encouraging disruptions to taken for granted ways of thinking and acting and the use of generative images to stimulate new organizational conversations and narratives This book offers the first comprehensive introduction to Dialogic Organization Development with chapters by a global team of leading scholar practitioners addressing both theoretical foundations and specific practices
