The Ecology Of Social Boundaries Agta Foragers Of The Philippines:

The Ecology of Social Boundaries Jean Treloggen Peterson, 1978 Peterson, Jean Treloggen. The Ecology of Social Boundaries; Agta Foragers of the Philippines, 1978 The Cambridge Encyclopedia of Hunters and Gatherers Richard B. Lee, Richard Heywood Daly, Richard Daly, 1999-12-16 Hunting and gathering is humanity's first and most successful adaptation. Until 12,000 years ago, all humanity lived this way. Surprisingly, in an increasingly urbanized and technological world, dozens of hunting and gathering societies have persisted and thrive worldwide, resilient in the face of change. Their ancient ways, now combined with the trappings of modernity, are the focus of this encyclopedia. The encyclopedia is divided into three parts. The first contains case studies by leading experts of over fifty hunting and gathering peoples in seven major world regions. There is a general introduction and an archaeological overview for each region. Part II contains thematic essays on prehistory, social life, gender, music, and art, health, religion, and indigenous knowledge. The final part surveys the complex histories of hunter-gatherers, encounters with colonialism and the state, and their ongoing struggles for dignity and human rights as part of the worldwide movement of indigenous peoples. The Lifeways of Hunter-Gatherers Robert L. Kelly, 2013-04-15 Challenges the preconceptions that hunter-gatherers were Paleolithic relics living in a raw state of nature, instead crafting a position that emphasizes their diversity.

Folkbiology Douglas L. Medin, Scott Atran, 1999-06-08 The term folkbiology refers to people's everyday understanding of the biological world, how they perceive, categorize, and reason about living kinds. The study of folkbiology not only sheds light on human nature; it may ultimately help us make the transition to a global economy without irreparably damaging the environment or destroying local cultures. This book takes an interdisciplinary approach, bringing together the work of researchers in anthropology, cognitive and developmental psychology, biology, and philosophy of science. The issues covered include: Are folk taxonomies a first-order approximation to classical scientific taxonomies, or are they driven more directly by utilitarian concerns? How are these category schemes linked to reasoning about natural kinds? Is there any nontrivial sense in which folk taxonomic structures are universal? What impact does science have on folk taxonomy? Together, the chapters present the current foundations of folkbiology and indicate new directions in research. Contributors: Scott Atran, Terry Kit-fong Au, Brent Berlin, K. David Bishop, John D. Forager-Traders in South and Southeast Asia Kathleen D. Morrison, Laura L. Junker, 2002-12-05 In both South and Southeast Asia, many upland groups make a living in whole or part through gathering and hunting, producing not only subsistence goods but commodities destined for regional and even world markets. These forager-traders have had an ambiguous position in ethnographic analysis, variously represented as relics, degraded hunter-gatherers, or recent upstarts. Forager-Traders in South and Southeast Asia adopts a multidisciplinary approach to these groups, presenting a series of comparative case studies that analyse the long term histories of hunting gathering trading power relations and regional social and biological interactions in this critical region This book is a fascinating and important addition to the current revisionist debate and a unique attempt to re conceptualize our knowledge of forager traders within the surrounding context of complex polities populations and economies in South and Southeast Asia Ibss: Anthropology: 1978 International Committee for Social Science Information and Documentation,1990-12-31 First published in 1981 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Circumcision and Human Rights George Denniston,Frederick Hodges,Marilyn Fayre Milos,2008-12-23 There is hardly a reason to circumcise a little boy for medical reasons because those medical reasons don t exist said Dr Michael Wilks Head of Ethics at the British Medical Association who admitted that doctors have circumcised boys for no good reason In the United States parts of Africa the Middle East and in the Muslim world 13 3 million infant boys and 2 million girls have part or all of their external sex organs cut off for reasons that defy logic and violate basic human rights Doctors parents and politicians have been misled into thinking that circumcision is beneficial necessary and harmless In Circumcision and human rights internationally respected experts in the fields of medicine science politics law ethics sociology anthropology history and religion present the latest research on this tragedy as a part of the worldwide campaign to end sexual mutilation They outline steps for eradicating this abusive practice to enable males and females the dignity of living out their lives with all the body parts with which they were born The ^AOxford Handbook of Early Southeast Asia C.F.W. Lancy,2022-03-10 How are children raised in different cultures What is the role of children in society How are families and communities structured around them Now in its third edition this deeply engaging book delves into these questions by reviewing and cataloging the findings of over 100 years of anthropological scholarship dealing with childhood and adolescence It is organized developmentally moving from infancy through to adolescence and early adulthood and enriched with anecdotes from ethnography and the daily media to paint a nuanced and credible picture of childhood in different cultures past and present This new edition has been expanded and updated with over 350 new sources and introduces a number of new topics including how children learn from the environment middle childhood and how culture is transmitted between generations It remains the essential book to read to understand what it means to be a child in our complex ever changing world The Cambridge World Prehistory Colin Renfrew,Paul Bahn,2014-06-09 The Cambridge World Prehistory provides a systematic and authoritative examination of the prehistory of every region around the world from the early days of human origins in Africa two million years ago to the beginnings of written history which in some areas started only two centuries ago Written by a team of leading international scholars the volumes include both traditional topics and cutting edge approaches such as archaeolinguistics and molecular genetics and examine the essential questions of human development around the world The volumes are organised geographically exploring the evolution of hominins and their expansion from Africa as well as the formation of states and development in each region of different technologies such as seafaring metallurgy and food production The Cambridge World Prehistory reveals a rich and complex history of the world It will be an invaluable resource for any student or scholar of archaeology and related disciplines looking to research a particular topic tradition region or period within prehistory

Cultural Values and Human Ecology in Southeast Asia Karl Hutterer, A. Rambo, A. Terry Rambo, George Lovelace, 2020-08-06 Ecologists have long based their conceptual frameworks in the natural sciences Recently however they have acknowledged that ecosystems cannot be understood without taking into account human interventions that may have taken place for thousands of years And for their part social scientists have recognized that human behavior must be understood in the environment in which it is acted out Researchers have thus begun to develop the area of human ecology Yet human ecology needs suitable conceptual frameworks to tie the human and natural together In response Cultural Values and Human Ecology uses the framework of cultural values to collect a set of highly diverse contributions to the field of human ecology Values represent an important and essential aspect of the intellectual organization of a society integrated into and ordained by the over arching cosmological system and constituting the meaningful basis for action in terms of concreteness and abstraction of content as well as mutability and permanence Because of this balance values lend themselves to the kinds of analyses of ecological relationships conducted here those that demand a reasonable amount of specificity as well as historical stability The contributions to Cultural Values and Human Ecology are exceedingly diverse They include abstract theoretical discussions and specific case studies ranging across the landscape of Southeast Asia from the islands to southern China They deal with hunting gathering populations as well as peasants operating within contemporary nation states and they are the work of natural scientists social scientists and humanists of Western and Asian origin Diversity in the backgrounds of the authors contributes most to the varied approaches to the theme of this volume because differences in cultural background and academic tradition will lead to different research interests and to differences in the empirical approaches chosen to pursue given problems

Jumano and Patarabueye J. Charles Kelly, 1986-01-01 In this volume author J Charles Kelley uses historical linguistic and archaeological data to compare two indigenous North American cultures the Patarabueyes and the Jumanos

Past and Present in Hunter Gatherer Studies Carmel Schrire, 2016-09-16 This volume shows how hunter gatherer societies maintain their traditional lifeways in the face of interaction with neighboring herders farmers and traders Using historical anthropological and archaeological data and cases from Africa Australia and Southeast Asia the authors examine hunter gatherer peoples both past and present to assess these relationships and the mechanisms by which hunter gatherers adapt and maintain elements of their culture in the wider world around them

demographic upheavals that altered the social landscape of the Southwest from the thirteenth through the seventeenth centuries forced peoples from diverse backgrounds to literally remake their worlds transformations in community identity and power that are only beginning to be understood through innovations in decorated ceramics In addition to aesthetic changes that included new color schemes new painting techniques alterations in design and a greater emphasis on iconographic imagery some of the wares reflect a new production efficiency resulting from more specialized household and community based industries Also they were traded over longer distances and were used more often in public ceremonies than earlier ceramic types Through the study of glaze painted pottery archaeologists are beginning to understand that pots had social lives in this changing world and that careful reconstruction of the social lives of pots can help us understand the social lives of Puebloan peoples In this book fifteen contributors apply a wide range of technological and stylistic analysis techniques to pottery of the Rio Grande and Western Pueblo areas to show what it reveals about inter and intra community dynamics work groups migration trade and ideology in the precontact and early postcontact Puebloan world Through material evidence the contributors reveal that technological and aesthetic innovations were deliberately manipulated and disseminated to actively construct communities of practice that cut across language and settlement groups The Social Life of Pots offers a wealth of new data from this crucial period of prehistory and is an important baseline for future work in this area

Property and Equality Thomas Widlok, Wolde Gossa Tadesse, 2005 The ethnography of egalitarian social systems was first met with sheer disbelief Today it is still hotly debated in a number of fields and has gained sophistication as well as momentum This collection of essays on property and equality acknowledges this diversification by presenting research results in two complementary volumes They bring together a wide range of authoritative researchers most of whom have worked with hunter gatherer groups These two volumes cover existing ethnographic and theoretical ground while maintaining a clear focus on the relation between property and equality The book consists of the most recent work of prominent members of the original group of researchers in hunter gatherer studies among them James Woodburn and Richard Lee and very recent ethnography on hunter gatherers and other egalitarian systems
