Wells-Barnett, 2022-09-30 Though the end of the Civil War brought legal emancipation to African American people it is a fact of history that their social oppression continued long after The most virulent form of this ongoing persecution was the practice of lynching carried out by mob rule often as local law enforcement officials looked the other way During the 1880s and 1890s more than 100 African Americans per year were lynched and in 1892 alone the toll of murdered men and women reached a peak of 161 In that awful year the twenty three year old Ida B Wells the editor of a small newspaper for blacks in Memphis Tennessee raised one lone voice of protest In her paper she charged that white businessmen had instigated three local lynchings against their black competitors In retaliation for her outspoken courage a goon squad of angry whites destroyed her editorial office and print shop and she was forced to flee the South and move to New York City So began a crusade against lynching which became the focus of her long active and very courageous life In New York she began lecturing against the abhorrent vigilante practice and published her first pamphlet on the subject called Southern Horrors After moving to Chicago and marrying lawyer Ferdinand Barnett she continued her campaign publishing A Red Record in 1895 and Mob Rule in New Orleans about the race riots in that city in 1900 All three of these documents are here collected in this work a shocking testament to cruelty and the dark American legacy of racial prejudice Anticipating possible accusations of distortion Wells Barnett was careful to present factually accurate evidence and she deliberately relied on southern white sources as well as statistics gathered by the Chicago Tribune Using the words of white journalists she created a damning indictment of unpunished crimes that was difficult to dispute since southern white men who had witnessed the appalling incidents had written the descriptions Along with her husband she played an active role in the founding of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People NAACP Due to her efforts the NAACP launched an intensive campaign against lynching after World War I Her work remains important to this day not only as a cry of protest against injustice but also as valuable historical documentation of terrible crimes that must never be forgotten This edition is enhanced by an introduction by Patricia Hill Collins is an American academic specialising in race class and gender She is a Distinguished University Professor of Sociology at the University of Maryland College Park She is also the former head of the Department of African American Studies at the University of Cincinnati and a past President of the American Sociological Association

Partners in Gatekeeping Lauren Braun-Strumfels, 2023-11 Partners in Gatekeeping illuminates a complex distinctly transnational story that recasts the development of U S immigration policies and institutions Lauren Braun Strumfels challenges existing ideas about the origins of remote control by paying particular attention to two programs supported by the Italian government in the 1890s a government outpost on Ellis Island called the Office of Labor Information and Protection for Italians and rural immigrant colonization in the American South namely a plantation in Arkansas called Sunnyside Through her examination of these distinct locations Braun Strumfels argues that we must consider Italian migration as an essential piece in the history of how the United States became a gatekeeping nation In particular she details how an asymmetric partnership emerged between the United States and Italy to manage that migration In so doing Partners in Gatekeeping reveals that the last ten years of the nineteenth century were critical to the establishment of the modern gatekeeping system By showing the roles of Italian programs in this migration system Braun Strumfels establishes antecedents for remote control beyond the well studied Chinese and Mexican cases

Mary Turner and the Memory of Lynching, Julie Buckner Armstrong, 2011. Mary Turner and the Memory of Lynching traces the reaction of activists, artists, writers, and local residents to the brutal lynching of a pregnant woman near Valdosta, Georgia. In 1918, the murder of a white farmer led to a week of mob violence that claimed the lives of at least eleven African Americans, including Hayes Turner. When his wife Mary vowed to press charges against the killers, she too fell victim to the mob. Mary's lynching was particularly brutal and involved the grisly death of her eight-month-old fetus. It led to both an entrenched local silence and a widespread national response. In newspaper and magazine accounts, visual art, film, literature, and public memorials, Turner's story became a centerpiece of the Anti Lynching Crusaders campaign for the 1922 Dyer Bill, which sought to make lynching a federal crime. Julie Buckner Armstrong explores the complex and contradictory ways this horrific event was remembered in works such as Walter White's report in the NAACP's newspaper, The Crisis; the Kabnis section of Jean Toomer's Cane; Angelina Weld Grimké's short story Goldie; and Meta Fuller's sculpture Mary Turner: A Silent Protest against Mob Violence. Like those of Emmett Till and Leo Frank, Turner's story continues to resonate on multiple levels. Armstrong's work provides insight into the different roles black women played in the history of lynching: as victims, as loved ones left behind, and as those who fought back. The crime continues to defy conventional forms of representation, illustrating what can and cannot be said about lynching and revealing the difficulty and necessity of confronting this nation's legacy of racial violence.

Lynched, Amy Kate Bailey, Stewart E. Tolnay, 2015-05-04. On July 9, 1883, twenty men stormed the jail in Morehouse Parish, Louisiana, kidnapped Henderson Lee, a black man charged with larceny, and hanged him. Events like this occurred thousands of times across the American South in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, yet we know scarcely more about any of these other victims than we do about Henderson Lee. Drawing on new sources to provide the most comprehensive portrait of the men and women lynched in the American South, Amy Bailey and Stewart Tolnay's revealing profiles and careful analysis begin to restore the identities of and lend dignity to hundreds of lynching victims about whom we have known little more than their names and alleged offenses Comparing victims characteristics to those of African American men who were not lynched Bailey and Tolnay identify the factors that made them more vulnerable to being targeted by mobs including how old they were what work they did their marital status place of birth and literacy and whether they lived in the margins of their communities or possessed higher social status Assessing these factors in the context of current scholarship on mob violence and reports on the little studied women and white men who were murdered in similar circumstances this monumental work brings unprecedented clarity to our understanding of lynching and its victims
