Training and Assessment Eric Baker, 2015-05-28 If you've ever stopped to ask for directions you will probably have noticed that many people have the basic instincts needed to teach and enjoy imparting their knowledge. Added to appropriate subject knowledge, this is where vocational training begins. Building on your subject knowledge and skills, The Nuts and Bolts of Vocational Training and Assessment is an accessible and invaluable guide for vocational trainers. As someone who has always learned best through doing things rather than academic study, author Eric Baker has made his book practical in a day-to-day way. Its authority comes from his past training experiences and personal development as a vocational trainer. Starting from the basic principles, it takes the reader through the intricacies of providing training courses in a step-by-step way and covers areas not usually addressed in educational textbooks. This book is primarily intended to be a companion for those studying to achieve an academic vocational qualification. As such, it provides support by being accessible, bringing a common sense approach, and using a sense of humour. The conversational style of traditional textbooks is combined with the modern, exact approach expected today, resulting in an accessible and enjoyable read. Above all, it does what it says on the cover. Staff

Training Administration, Lee Bruno, 1978 The Systematic Screening and Assessment Method Laura C. Leviton, Laura Kettel Khan, Nicola Dawkins, 2010-06-21 The rationale, application and outcomes of the Systemic Screening and Assessment (SSA) Method: an innovative combination of existing evaluation methods are described. The SSA Method is a cost-effective way to assist program funders, practitioners and researchers in selecting the most promising innovations already in use and then preparing them for further, more rigorous evaluation. The focus of the issue is methodology, with abundant practical description of its application. The SSA Method is a six-step process: selecting a topic or theme; soliciting nominations of innovations that address the theme; using an expert panel to screen these nominations for those with the highest plausibility of meeting criteria for promise; conducting evaluability assessments on the nominations that pass this screen; expert panel review of the evaluability assessment reports. The final step uses the information in three ways to identify the innovations that are most promising and ready for evaluation; provide constructive feedback to the innovations that all reflect a similar program type. This issue describes use of the SSA Method in a 2-year collaborative project of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, RWJF, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the CDC Foundation, aimed at changing the prevalence of childhood obesity at the level of an entire population. This is the 125th volume of New Directions for Evaluation, an official publication of the American Evaluation Association. Research Report, 1973 Training and
