The Routledge Handbook of Language Program Development and Administration

Alan V. Brown, Cori Crane, Beatrice C. Dupuy, Estela Ene, 2025-06-30 Second language program development and administration is a long standing area within the larger field of applied linguistics In many ways it is the quintessential applied linguistics field as it crosses disciplinary boundaries while balancing the rigors of scholarly inquiry with the demands of practical application without losing sight of concrete learner outcomes The Routledge Handbook of Language Program

Development and Administration provides a scholarly rigorous yet practically relevant treatment of issues implicated in program development and administration with 52 chapters written by leading scholars in the field. Authors not only address the theoretical underpinnings of their respective topics but also provide actionable evidence based recommendations concerning eminently practical matters. In this way the volume provides both novice and experienced language program administrators with important guidance on how to think about the work that they do and how best to go about it while also validating language program administration as a scholarly area of inquiry. The Routledge Handbook of Language Program Development and Administration is essential reading for practicing second language program administrators at the post secondary level in service and pre service second language instructors graduate students in applied linguistics and even upper level undergraduate education students considering second language teaching as a future career. Chapters 9 and 11 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license.

International Handbook of English Language Teaching Jim Cummins, Chris Davison, 2007-12-31 This two volume handbook provides a comprehensive examination of policy practice research and theory related to English language teaching (ELT) in international contexts. Nearly 70 chapters highlight the research foundation for the best practices frameworks for policy decisions and areas of consensus and controversy in the teaching and development of English as a second and/or additional language for kindergarten through to adult speakers of languages other than English. In doing so it problematizes traditional dichotomies and challenges the very terms that provide the traditional foundations of the field. A wide range of terms has been used to refer to the key players involved in the teaching and learning of the English language and to the enterprise of English language teaching as a whole. At various times and in different contexts the following labels have been used in countries where English is the dominant language to describe programs, learners or teachers of English: English as a second language (ESL), English as an additional language (EAL), limited English proficient (LEP) and English language learners (ELL). In contexts where English is not the dominant language the following terms have been used: English as a foreign language (EFL), English as an international language (EIL) and English as a lingua franca (ELF).

Handbook of Adult and Continuing Education Carol E. Kasworm, Amy D. Rose, Jovita M. Ross-Gordon, 2010-05-27 Drawing on the contributions of 75 leading authors in the field this 2010 Edition of the respected Handbook of Adult and Continuing Education provides adult education scholars, programme administrators and teachers with a solid foundation for understanding the current guiding beliefs, practices and tensions faced in the field as well as a basis for developing and refining their own approaches to their work and scholarship. Offering expanded discussions in the areas of social justice, technology and the global dimensions of adult and continuing education the Handbook continues the tradition of previous volumes with discussions of contemporary theories, current forms and contexts of practice and core processes and functions. Insightful chapters examine adult and continuing education as it relates to gender and sexuality, race
