The Changing Information Environment:

The Changing Information Environment John McHale, 2019-03-13 A revolution has occurred during our lifetime in the collection storage and communication of information a revolution whose full significance is scarcely understood even by those responsible for its development At the core of this revolution and its most visible component is electronic data processing via the computer The computer has shown an impressive ability to handle increasing complexity at greater speeds while decreasing its use of power cost and space In this book however John McHale shows how the impact of the information revolution stretches far beyond these specific developments It lies 1 in the expansion and interlinkage of computer based systems and their extension into larger areas of automated control 2 in the convergence and relationship of such systems with concurrently developing communications technologies and 3 in the ways in which these combine together to create a radically new information environment whose major impacts will be felt most critically within the next ten to twenty years Mr McHale believes that the emergence of information and knowledge as our basic resources signifies profound consequences that will affect the structure of society itself and the institutional and value premises upon which it operates The increased dependence upon information as key societal resource will move society within the next ten to twenty years from industrially based forms to post industrial forms whose possible configurations of institutions governance and value systems are still open to conjecture In society in general with the new social wealth generated by information and communications technologies the whole character of the survival game is being changed It is now more clearly a non zero sum game in which success or gain is predicated on all winning Borderless Education as a Challenge in the 5.0 Society Ade Gafar Abdullah, Vina Adriany, Cep Ubad Abdullah, 2020-10-21 These proceedings contain a selection of papers presented at the 3rd International Conference on Educational Sciences organized on 16 November 2019 It covers themes such as philosophy and policy of teacher education curriculum teaching and learning approaches learner s characteristics in the digital era global citizenship education vocational education teacher education qualification framework management supervision and assessment lifelong learning for all diversity in education equality of educational opportunity vocational and entrepreneurship education and education in the industry 4 0 era Worse Than Ignorance Peter J. Digital Witness Sam Dubberley, Alexa Koenig, Daragh Murray, 2019-12-19 From videos of rights violations to satellite images of environmental degradation to eyewitness accounts disseminated on social media human rights practitioners have access to more data today than ever before To say that mobile technologies social media and increased connectivity are having a significant impact on human rights practice would be an understatement Modern technology and the enhanced access it provides to information about abuse has the potential to revolutionise human rights reporting and documentation as well as the pursuit of legal accountability However these new methods for information gathering and dissemination have also created significant challenges for investigators and researchers For example videos and photographs depicting alleged human rights violations or war crimes are often captured on the mobile phones of victims or political sympathisers The capture and dissemination of content often happens haphazardly and for a variety of motivations including raising awareness of the plight of those who have been most affected or for advocacy purposes with the goal of mobilising international public opinion For this content to be of use to investigators it must be discovered verified and authenticated Discovery verification and authentication have therefore become critical skills for human rights organisations and human rights lawyers This book is the first to cover the history ethics methods and best practice associated with open source research It is intended to equip the next generation of lawyers journalists sociologists data scientists other human rights activists and researchers with the cutting edge skills needed to work in an increasingly digitized and information saturated environment
