The Ecology Of North America Our Changing Environment Series:

Our Changing Planet, 1997 National Forest Management United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Energy and Natural Resources. Subcommittee on Forests and Public Land Management, 2000 Nature in Fragments Elizabeth Ann Johnson, Michael W. Klemens, 2005 This new collection focuses on the impact of sprawl on biodiversity and the measures that can be taken to alleviate it Leading biological and social scientists conservationists and land use professionals examine how sprawl affects species and alters natural communities ecosystems and natural processes The contributors integrate biodiversity issues concerns and needs into the growing number of anti sprawl initiatives including the smart growth and new urbanist movements Agrarian Landscapes in Transition Charles Redman, David R. Foster, 2008-07-18 Agrarian Landscapes in Transition researches human interaction with the earth With hundreds of acres of agricultural land going out of production every day the introduction spread and abandonment of agriculture represents the most pervasive alteration of the Earth's environment for several thousand years What happens when humans impose their spatial and temporal signatures on ecological regimes and how does this manipulation affect the earth and nature's desire for equilibrium Studies were conducted at six Long Term Ecological Research sites within the US including New England the Appalachian Mountains Colorado Michigan Kansas and Arizona While each site has its own unique agricultural history patterns emerge that help make sense of how our actions have affected the earth and how the earth pushes back The book addresses how human activities influence the spatial and temporal structures of agrarian landscapes and how this varies over time and across biogeographic regions It also looks at the ecological and environmental consequences of the resulting structural changes the human responses to these changes and how these responses drive further changes in agrarian landscapes The time frames studied include the ecology of the earth before human interaction pre European human interaction during the rise and fall of agricultural land use and finally the biological and cultural response to the abandonment of farming due to complete abandonment or a land use change such as urbanization Ecological Climatology Gordon Bonan, 2015-12-01 The third edition of Gordon Bonan's comprehensive textbook introduces an interdisciplinary framework to understand the interaction between terrestrial ecosystems and climate change Ideal for advanced undergraduate and graduate students studying ecology environmental science atmospheric science and geography it reviews basic meteorological hydrological and ecological concepts to examine the physical chemical and biological processes by which terrestrial ecosystems affect and are affected by climate This new edition has been thoroughly updated with new science and references The scope has been expanded beyond its initial focus on energy water and carbon to include reactive gases and aerosols in the atmosphere The new edition emphasizes the Earth as a system recognizing interconnections among the planet's physical chemical biological and socioeconomic components and emphasizing global environmental sustainability Each chapter contains chapter summaries and review questions and with over 400 illustrations including many in color this textbook will once again be an essential student guide The Environmental Food Crisis United Nations Environment Programme,2009 This document analyzes the state of world food The three first chapters explain the world food crisis demand need and supply The two following chapters highlight the impacts of environmental degradation on yield and the impacts of expansion of food production on biodiversity and ecosystems The solutions are explained in two chapters with detailed description of the seven sustainable options for increasing food security Patterns of Land Degradation in Drylands Eva Nora Mueller,John Wainwright,Anthony J.
