The Fijian Colonial Experience Timothy J. MacNaught, 2016-06-01 Indigenous Fijians were singularly fortunate in having a colonial administration that halted the alienation of communally owned land to foreign settlers and that almost for a century administered their affairs in their own language and through culturally congenial authority structures and institutions From the outset the Fijian Administration was criticised as paternalistic and stifling of individualism But for all its problems it sustained at least until World War II a vigorously autonomous and peaceful social and political world in quite affluent subsistence underpinning the celebrated exuberance of the culture exploited by the travel industry ever since

Colonial Lives Across the British Empire David Lambert, Alan Lester, 2006-11-23 A series of portraits of imperial lives to rethink the history of the British Empire in the nineteenth century Colonialism and Male Domestic Service across the Asia Pacific Julia Martínez, Claire Lowrie, Frances Steel, Victoria Haskins, 2018-11-29 Examining the role of Asian and indigenous male servants across the Asia Pacific from the late 19th century to the 1930s this study shows how their ubiquitous presence in these purportedly humble jobs gave them a degree of cultural influence that has been largely overlooked in the literature on labour mobility in the age of empire With case studies from British Hong Kong Singapore Northern Australia Fiji and British Columbia French Indochina the American Philippines and the Dutch East Indies the book delves into the intimate and often conflicted relationships between European and American colonists and their servants It explores the lives of houseboys cooks and gardeners in the colonial home considers the bell boys and waiters in the grand colonial hotels and follows the stewards and cabin boys on steamships travelling across the Indian and Pacific Oceans This broad conception of service allows Colonialism and Male Domestic Service to illuminate trans colonial or cross border influences through the mobility of servants and their employers This path breaking study is an important book for students and scholars of colonialism labour history and the Asia Pacific region

Ritual Textuality Matt Tomlinson, 2014 A classic question in studies of ritual is how ritual performances achieve or fail to achieve their effects In this pathbreaking book Matt Tomlinson argues that participants condition their own expectations of ritual success by interactively creating distinct textual patterns of sequence conjunction contrast and substitution Drawing on long term research in Fiji the book presents in depth studies of each of these patterns taken from a wide range of settings a fiery soul saving Pentecostal crusade relaxed gatherings at which people drink the narcotic beverage kava deathbeds at which missionaries eagerly await the signs of good Christians happy deaths and the monologic pronouncements of a military led government determined to make the nation speak in a single voice In each of these cases Tomlinson also examines the broad ideologies of motion which frame participants ritual actions such as Pentecostals beliefs that effective worship requires ecstatic movement like jumping dancing and clapping and nineteenth century missionaries insistence that the journeys of the soul in the afterlife should follow a new path By approaching ritual as an act of entextualization in which the flow of discourse is turned into object like texts while analyzing the ways people expect words things and selves to move in performance this book presents a new and compelling way to understand the efficacy of ritual action

State of Suffering Susanna Trnka, 2011-05-02 How do ordinary people respond when their lives are irrevocably altered by terror and violence Susanna

Trnka was residing in an Indo Fijian village in the year 2000 during the Fijian nationalist coup. The overthrow of the elected multiethnic party led to six months of nationalist aggression much of which was directed toward Indo Fijians. In State of Suffering Trnka shows how Indo Fijians' lives were overturned as waves of turmoil and destruction swept across Fiji. Describing the myriad social processes through which violence is articulated and ascribed meaning including expressions of incredulity, circulation of rumors, narratives and exchanges of laughter and jokes, Trnka reveals the ways in which the community engages in these practices as individuals experience and try to understand the consequences of the coup. She then considers different kinds of pain caused by political chaos and social turbulence including pain resulting from bodily harm, shared terror and the distress precipitated by economic crisis and social dislocation. Throughout this book Trnka focuses on the collective social process through which violence is embodied, articulated and silenced by those it targets. Her sensitive ethnography is a valuable addition to the global conversation about the impact of political violence on community life.
