Western Europe in Transition International Monetary Fund, 1997-08-15 This paper examines the impact of the opening up of Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Union on Western Europe The analysis suggests that given reasonable yet necessarily imprecise assumptions on the likely developments in the previously centrally planned economies PCPEs over the next ten years West European capital markets are likely to experience only a mild squeeze from their concerted efforts to provide external financing to the East Most macroeconomic aggregates are likely to suffer shocks significantly smaller than would be expected from a typical business cycle

Industrial Policy in an Era of Globalization Marcus Noland, Howard Pack, 2003 Globalization reigns supreme as a description of recent economic transformation and it carries many meanings In the policy realm the orthodox terms of engagement have been enshrined in the Washington consensus But disappointing results in Latin America and transitional economies plus the Asian financial crisis have shaken the faith in Washington and elsewhere One response has been to hark back to the more statist policies that the consensus marginalized In this regard Japan Korea and Taiwan are promoted as the poster nations that have derived great benefits from increasing integration with the international economy without surrendering national autonomy in the economic or cultural spheres effectively beating the West at its own game The fundamental questions addressed in this monograph are whether industrial policy was indeed a major source of growth in these three economies and if so can it be replicated under current institutional arrangements and if so is it worth replicating or would developing countries today be better off embracing the suitably refined orthodoxy

Free Trade Between Korea and the United States? In-bŏm Ch'oe, Jeffrey J. Schott, 2001 This study examines the economic and political benefits of the U S pursuing Free Trade Agreement negotiations with Korea which is pursuing FTA accords as part of a strategy to restructure its economy and sustain the recovery from its 1997 98 economic crisis The authors examine the impact of a prospective pact on other trading partners on the Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation and on the multilateral trading system
