

Efficient Steps to Writing Research Summary

1

Decide what your summary will cover

2

Take a quick look at the article

3

The article should be read one or two times

4

Write a summary of each section using your own words

5

Rather than evaluating the findings, report them

6

Be brief when summarizing

7

State the research question and hypothesis

8

Discuss the results and their significance

Correct errors and improve the flow of the summary

mathematical topics across the grades In particular the Standards emphasize the importance of algebraic thinking as an essential strand in the elementary school curriculum Issues related to school algebra are pivotal in many ways Traditionally algebra in high school or earlier has been considered a gatekeeper critical to participation in postsecondary education especially for minority students Yet as traditionally taught first year algebra courses have been characterized as an unmitigated disaster for most students There have been many shifts in the algebra curriculum in schools within recent years Some of these have been successful first steps in increasing enrollment in algebra and in broadening the scope of the algebra curriculum Others have compounded existing problems Algebra is not yet conceived of as a K 14 subject Issues of opportunity and equity persist Because there is no one answer to the dilemma of how to deal with algebra making progress requires sustained dialogue experimentation reflection and communication of ideas and practices at both the local and national levels As an initial step in moving from national level dialogue and speculations to concerted local and state level work on the role of algebra in the curriculum the MSEB and the NCTM co sponsored a national symposium The Nature and Role of Algebra in the K 14 Curriculum on May 27 and 28 1997 at the National Academy of Sciences in Washington D C

Jsl Vol 6-N4 JOURNAL OF SCHOOL LEADERSHIP,1996-07-01 The Journal of School Leadership is broadening the conversation about schools and leadership and is currently accepting manuscripts We welcome manuscripts based on cutting edge research from a wide variety of theoretical perspectives and methodological orientations The editorial team is particularly interested in working with international authors authors from traditionally marginalized populations and in work that is relevant to practitioners around the world Growing numbers of educators and professors look to the six bimonthly issues to deal with problems directly related to contemporary school leadership practice teach courses on school leadership and policy use as a quality reference in writing articles about school leadership and improvement International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration Kenneth A. Leithwood,Judith Chapman,P. Corson,P. Hallinger,Ann Hart,2012-12-06 EDITORS This introduction to the International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration describes some of the motivation for developing the book and several assumptions on which is based much of the work represented in its 31 chapters A synopsis of the contents of those chapters is also provided SOME KEY ASSUMPTIONS It is sometimes suggested that the search for an adequate understanding of leadership is doomed to fail After all there is little evidence of agreement about the concept in spite of prodigious efforts dating back hundreds if not thousands of years Such a view is captured for example in Bennis observation that Of all the hazy and confounding areas in social psychology leadership theory undoubtedly contends for top nomination Probably more has been written and less is known about leadership than any other topic in the behavioural sciences 1959 page 259 We do not find this state of affairs discouraging nor entirely accurate and of course it did not prevent Bennis from proceeding either One reason for our desire to continue in the face of such discouraging words is that a great deal of leadership research aspires to develop a general theory a theory which applies to all or most domains of organized human activity This aspiration inevitably produces decontextualized and therefore abstract categories of practice Howard Gardner s 1995 depiction of leadership as story telling is a case in point

Qualities of Effective Principals James H. Stronge,Xianxuan Xu,2021-04-28 What does it take to be a good school principal No two principals work exactly the same way but research shows that effective principals focus on a core set of factors critical to fostering success among all students In this second edition of Qualities of Effective Principals James H Stronge and Xianxuan Xu delineate these factors and show principals how to successfully balance the needs and priorities of their schools while continuously developing and refining their leadership skills Throughout the book the authors provide practical tools and extensive research that will help principals Assess exhibit and harness instructional leadership to meet a school s goals Foster and sustain an effective school climate for learning Select support and retain high quality teachers and staff Manage school resources effectively and efficiently Create maintain and strengthen internal and external community relationships Define their role in student achievement This book also includes practical skills checklists along with quality indicators and red flags for effective leadership Qualities of Effective Principals 2nd Edition is an excellent resource for both experienced and new principals committed to developing and leading strong schools that help all students succeed

Approaches to Administrative Training in Education Joseph F. Murphy,Philip Hallinger,1987-07-01 In this important new collection Murphy and Hallinger bring together descriptions of a wide range of the new models in use in educational administrative training Most of these eleven models have developed in response to contemporary criticism of the educational administrative theory movement and each in its own way strives to bridge the chasm between educational theory and practice The approaches represented here stress the importance of the administrators engagement in the daily life of the school and encourage administrators to learn from one another While some models have come from leadership academies others have been developed and tested in state departments of education professional associations and educational institutions The book represents an important resource for those working with pre and inservice administrators as they learn ways in which their involvement can improve the nation s schools Resources in Education ,1994 Change in Schools Gene E. Hall,Shirley M. Hord,1987-01-01 This book summarizes nearly fifteen years of research in schools research geared toward understanding and describing the change process as experienced by its participants It addresses the question What can educators and educational administrators don on a day to day basis to become more effective in facilitating beneficial change The book provides research based tools techniques and approaches that can help change facilitators to attain this goal The authors contend that in order to be more effective educators must be concerns based in their approach to leadership Early chapters deal with teachers evolving attitudes concerns and perceptions of change as well as their gradually developing skills in implementing promising educational innovations The authors next turn to examine the role of the school principal and other leaders as change facilitators and present ways that they can become better informed about the developmental state of teachers as well as how to use these diagnostic survey and data as the basis for facilitating the change process The emphasis is on practical day to day skills and techniques showing administrators how to design and implement interventions that are supportive of teachers and others Each chapter presents not only the concepts and research of the authors but also translates the concepts in concrete applications which illustrate the ways they can be applied to obtain genuine and lasting improvements The book also contains an important discussion and description of the change process focusing on teachers innovations and the schools
