The End Of Dreaming:

The Dreaming Mind and the End of the Ming World Lynn A. Struve, 2021-05-31 From the mid sixteenth through the end of the seventeenth century Chinese intellectuals attended more to dreams and dreaming and in a wider array of genres than in any other period of Chinese history Taking the approach of cultural history this ambitious yet accessible work aims both to describe the most salient aspects of this dream arc and to explain its trajectory in time through the writings arts and practices of well known thinkers religionists litterateurs memoirists painters doctors and political figures of late Ming and early Qing times The volume s encompassing thesis asserts that certain associations of dreaming grounded in the neurophysiology of the human brain at sleep such as subjectivity irrationality the unbidden lack of control emotionality spontaneity the imaginal and memory when especially heightened by historical and cultural developments are likely to pique interest in dreaming and generate florescences of dream expression among intellectuals The work thus makes a contribution to the history of how people have understood human consciousness in various times and cultures The Dreaming Mind and the End of the Ming World is the most substantial work in any language on the historicity of Chinese dream culture Within Chinese studies it will appeal to those with backgrounds in literature religion philosophy political history and the visual arts It will also be welcomed by readers interested in comparative dream cultures the history of consciousness and neurohistory

The End of a Dream A. M. N. Jenkin, 1919 The End of a Dream Gael Elton Mayo , PATRICK LEIGH FERMOR
Beautifully done A marvellous subtle knack of catching atmosphere and landscape an ear for the spoken word that evokes half Balzac half Alain Fournier I loved it The End of a Dream is a lyrical evocation of a long forgotten yet echoingly familiar world and an engrossing portrayal of life in rural France predating the environmental degradation of today Gael Elton Mayo lived in two regions of France which came to mean a great deal to her In the Franche Comt she lived with her husband in the fortress chateau of Frontenay which had been a stronghold against the French She had to learn quite literally to live with its ghosts In this land of vast distances and turbulent rivers Stendhal country old ways were still adhered to The people seemed to be partly shaped by their fierce history The Franche Comt has been French only since the seventeenth century and suffered numerous brutal attacks and betrayals during its long fight to keep its independence When Gael Elton Mayo first knew it in the 1960s there were still several men who preferred to live wild in the woods to more conventional ways As she describes her experiences the texture of life local habits food architecture and the Jurassiens she simultaneously opens windows on to the region s past This is recorded in detail only by local historians since more general histories of France tend to dismiss it with brevity She uses the same method when describing a village in the Vaucluse the inland part of Provence far from the crowded coast where she bought a farmhouse some ten years after losing the chateau and separating from her husband There she and her daughter made friends with a family of smallholders who it turned out shared similar views to her husband and his neighbours They all felt that something of great value was being leached out of their lives by the conditions of modern life and a gradual assimilation into the outside world SUNDAY TIMES I find it hard to pinpoint the unique charm of this half memoir half travel book It is about unusual people in the Jura and Provence by an unusual person THE SPECTATOR The visual quality of Gael Elton Mayo's writing conjures up with words a magic picture describing the texture of a Jurassien village in the early 1960s her memoir reads like Le Roy Ladurie's Montaillou This satire on modern mores ends up like a Proustian meditation on time BOOKS This book is extremely subtle both in its construction and constant changes of key Gael Elton Mayo speaks of two unique regions of France with her magical voice the fierce independence of the Jura the moody mountain in Provence the vivid pictures of people animals wines food flowers even the Mistral made me feel nostalgic about places I had never seen The End Of The Dream The Golden Boy Who Never Grew Up Ann Rule,1998-12 The explosive story of four talented handsome and charismatic young men best friends whose bond is shattered when one among them becomes consumed by lethal greed and twisted desire The End of the Dream and Other Stories John G. Neihardt,2025-07-21 Originally published at the beginning of the twentieth century the short stories of John G Neihardt deserve to be better known Their flesh and blood Indians were practically unprecedented in an era when the fiends of dime novels and idealizations of Cooper were still the literary norm Owing much to young Neihardt's intimate association with the Omahas at their reservation in eastern Nebraska the stories were of an Indian cast that perplexed the critics They were often overlooked as the years brought laurels to the author of A Cycle of the West and Black Elk Speaks A closer look at them reveals that Neihardt was a disciplined artist from the very beginning The nine stories in this volume appeared from 1901 to 1905 in the Overland Monthly five were collected in The Lonesome Trail in 1907 All of them are informed by Neihardt's experience among Omaha Indians and shaped by the power of his imagination Except for A Prairie Borgia which clearly touches on the notorious Chief Blackbird's relations with traders all are set in the time before contact with white men Love and hate kindness and cruelty hope and despair generosity and envy honesty and guile spiritual impulse and sexual desire operate in this wholly Indian world The End of the Dream The Triumph of Seha and The Smile of God are patterned on vision quests issuing in profound irony The social outcast who figured in Neihardt's Indian Tales and Others 1927 a Bison Book appears again in adventures with a cosmic and sometimes fantastic dimension These stories as well as When the Snows Drift The Beating of the War Drums The Fading of Shadow Flower The Singing of the Frogs and The Spirit of Crow Butte have an inwardness reflected by vivid imagery Their quality led Dr Susan LaFlesche Picotte the daughter of Joseph LaFlesche Iron Eyes last chief of the Omahas to exclaim that Neihardt was the only writer in a long line extending from Cooper to Frederic Remington who possessed a true understanding of Indian character The stories were compiled by Neihardt's daughter Hilda Neihardt Petri In his introduction Jay Fultz discusses their cultural context and artistic integrity The End of the Chinese Dream Gerard Lemos,2012-07-30 Glossy television images of happy industrious and increasingly prosperous workers show a bright view of life in twenty first century China But behind the officially approved story is a different reality

Preparing this book Gerard Lemos asked hundreds of Chinese men and women living in Chongqing an industrial mega city about their wishes and fears The lives they describe expose the myth of China s harmonious society Hundreds of millions of everyday people in China are beleaguered by immense social and health problems as well as personal family and financial anxieties while they watch their communities and traditions being destroyed Lemos investigates a China beyond the foreigners beaten track This is a revealing account of the thoughts and feelings of Chinese people regarding all facets of their lives from education to health care unemployment to old age politics to wealth Taken together the stories of these men and women bring to light a broken society one whose people are frustrated angry sad and often fearful about the circumstances of their lives The author considers the implications of these findings and analyzes how China s community and social problems threaten the ambitious nation s hopes for a prosperous and cohesive future Lemos explains why protests will continue and a divided and self serving leadership will not make people s dreams come true The End of the Eurocrats'

Bradford DeLong,Stephen S Cohen,2010-01-05 At the end of World War II the United States had all the money and all the power Now America finds itself cash poor and to a great extent power follows money In The End of Influence renowned economic analysts Stephen S Cohen and J Bradford DeLong explore the grave consequences this loss will have for America s place in the world America Cohen and DeLong argue will no longer be the world s hyperpower It will no longer wield soft cultural power or dictate a monolithic foreign policy More damaging though is the blow to the world s ability to innovate economically financially and politically Cohen and DeLong also explore American s complicated relationship with China the misunderstood role of sovereign wealth funds and the return of state led capitalism An essential read for anyone interested in how global economics and finance interact with national policy The End of Influence explains the far reaching and potentially long lasting but little noted consequences of our great fiscal crisis Dreaming the Southern Song Landscape Valérie Malenfer Ortiz,2024-03-25 Establishing a new approach to reading Chinese landscape painting this work centers around an early key example of scholarly painting viz Dream Journey on the Xiao and Xiang Rivers late 12th century The author restores the status of Dream Journey as a cultural icon for Confucians an object of contemplation for aesthetes an imaginary dream journey for poets and an incentive to cultivate one s moral intentions for both Buddhist monks and lay scholars Also it is convincingly argued that scholarly painting originates in the Southern Song 1127 1279 and not as is commonly thought in the Yuan Dynasty 1279 1368 The Hmo, Taking It All Apart, the End of a Dream Robert Gumbiner,2008-09-29 The basic health care system in the United States is not working and must be fixed In this book Dr Gumbner discusses his theories of what does and does not make HMOs work He also deals with the reveals how Hollywood films reflect our deepest fears and anxieties as a country often recording our political beliefs and cultural conditions while underscoring the darker side of the American way of life Long before the war in Iraq and the economic crises of the early 21st century Hollywood has depicted a grim view of life in the United States one that belies the prosperity and abundance of the so called American Dream While the country emerged from World War II as a world power collectively our sense of security had been threatened The result is a cinematic body of work that has America s decline and ruin as a central theme The author draws from popular films across all genres and six decades to illustrate how the political climate of the times influenced their creation Projecting the End of the American Dream Hollywood s Visions of U S Decline combines film history social history and political history to reveal important themes in the unfolding American narrative Discussions focus on a wide variety of films including Rambo Planet of the Apes and Easy Rider Dreams & Dead Ends

Dreaming Experience at the Time of COVID 19 Elisabetta Pasini,Cinzia Trimboli,2023-11-07 The book describes the experience of four Social Dreaming Matrices held online between March and May 2020 during the first lockdown caused by the Covid 19 emergency The pandemic isolated us and imposed prolonged contact with ourselves and our solitary thoughts Against this backdrop there was hope for change a desire for a different kind of sociability and different forms of intimacy On the basis of this evidence our research supports the shift from experiencing trauma to reacting to trauma looking at a collective traumatic experience not only as something to be overcome but as an opportunity for a transformation that changes our mental schemes in relation to the external context We have identified Social Dreaming as a privileged technique to overcome a collective traumatic experience supporting its elaboration through collective feelings new connections between intuition and rational thought the discovery of community meanings The authors s thesis is that the much needed transition from magical thinking to transformative thinking takes place in a setting that is able to contain the anxieties of life's transitional phases supporting the creation of new rituals and new social bonds and sustaining the passage from me to a wider we
