

Grisly murder case grips Green Bay

Many connected to victim or suspects in paper vat killing

Thanksgiving was just around the corner. Some had only recently started to socialize on the frozen tundra of Green Bay, a harbinger of the gloating Wisconsin winter that would envelop the region for the remainder of 1992 and a stretch through 1993.

Tom Monfils, a devoted husband and father of two, on a lifelong job at the James River paper mill, was a normal wreck. Days earlier, he called the police on what he believed was a drunk driver who wanted to crash into his car.

THIS FACTORY HAS WORKED — DAYS
WITHOUT A MURDER.

When Tom's mangled body was found at the bottom of a paper pulp vat the next morning, it would ignite a firestorm of controversy that still smolders nearly 30 years later.

What exactly happened to Tom, and why? Was he, as the police initially suspected and subsequently investigated, beaten and strangled at the hands of two co-workers for watching too many movies? If so, who exactly was involved in the murder and its messy cover-up?

Or was the truth stranger and more elusive — even, defying human nature itself? A complete lack of concrete physical evidence, conflicting accounts, rampant speculation, rumors and a bizarre community atmosphere made it nearly impossible to reconstruct the events of that night.

On November 20, 1992, the body of Tom Monfils was found at the bottom of a pulp vat at the James River Paper Mill in Green Bay, Wis.

Witness testimony, theories, suspect motivations, and a host of conspiracy theories have cropped to muddy the waters ever further, from the initial investigation to the present day.
