Making Threats Betsy

Hartmann,Banu Subramaniam,Charles Zerner,2005 Today we live in times of proliferating fears The daily updates on the ongoing war on terror amplify fear and anxiety as if they were necessary and important aspects of our reality Concerns about the environment increasingly take center stage as stories and images abound about deadly viruses alien species invasions scarcity of oil water food safety of GMOs biological weapons and fears of overpopulation Making Threats Biofears and Environmental Anxieties addresses how such environmental and biological fears are used to manufacture threats to individual national and global security Contributors from environmental studies political science international security biology sociology and anthropology discuss what they share in common the view that fears should be critically examined to avoid unnecessary alarm and scapegoating of people and nations as the enemy Other In these highly original and thought provoking essays Making Threats focuses on five themes security scarcity purity circulation and terror No other book has systematically examined the proliferation of fear in the context of current world events and from such a multidisciplinary perspective It consolidates in one place cutting edge research and reflection on how the contemporary landscape of fear shapes and is shaped by environmental and biological discourses By uncovering the linguistic tools that make fear resonate in the public consciousness by identifying the interests that create or are sustained by fears in short by giving fears histories Making Threats Biofears and Environmental Anxieties engages with some of the most potent and disturbing political and cultural aspects of the contemporary scene

American Perceptions of Immigrant and Invasive Species Peter Coates,2007-01-09 Sometimes by accident and sometimes on purpose humans have transported plants and animals to new habitats around the world Arriving in ever increasing numbers to American soil recent invaders have competed with preyed on hybridized with and carried diseases to native species transforming our ecosystems and creating anxiety among environmentalists and the general public But is American anxiety over this crisis of ecological identity a recent phenomenon Charting shifting attitudes to alien species since the 1850s Peter Coates brings to light the rich cultural and historical aspects of this story by situating the history of immigrant flora and fauna within the wider context of human immigration Through an illuminating series of particular invasions including the English sparrow and the eucalyptus tree what he finds is that we have always perceived plants and animals in relation to ourselves and the polities to which we belong Setting the saga of human relations with the environment in the broad context of scientific social and cultural history this thought provoking book demonstrates how profoundly notions of nationality and debates over race and immigration have shaped American understandings of the natural world
