Beyond Thalassocracies Evi Gorogianni,Peter Pavuk,Luca Girella,2016-08-31 Beyond Thalassocracies aims to evaluate and rethink the manner in which archaeologists approach understand and analyze the various processes associated with culture change connected to interregional contact using as a test case the world of the Aegean during the Late Bronze Age c 1600 1100 BC The 14 chapters compare and contrast various aspects of the phenomena of Minoanisation and Mycenaeanisation both of which share the basic underlying defining feature of material culture change in communities around the Aegean This change was driven by trends manifesting themselves in the dominant palatial communities of each period of the Bronze Age. Over the past decade our understanding of how these processes developed and functioned has changed considerably. Whereas current discussions on Minoanisation have already been informed by more recent theoretical trends especially in material culture studies and post colonial theory the process of Mycenaeanisation is still very much conceptualized along traditional lines of explanation. Since these phenomena occurred in chronological sequence it makes sense that any reappraisal of their nature and significance should target those regions of the Aegean basin that were affected by both processes highlighting their similarities and differences. Thus in the present volume we focus on the southern and eastern Aegean in particular the Cyclades Dodecanese and the north eastern Aegean islands.

The Art of Cloth in Mughal India Sylvia Houghteling, 2022-03-15. A richly illustrated history of textiles in the Mughal Empire. In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries a vast array of textiles circulated throughout the Mughal Empire. Made from rare fibers and crafted using virtuosic techniques these exquisite objects animated early modern experience from the intimate sensory pleasure of garments to the monumentality of imperial tents. The Art of Cloth in Mughal India tells the story of textiles crafted and collected across South Asia and beyond illuminating how cloth participated in political negotiations, social conversations and the shared seasonal rhythms of the year. Drawing on small scale paintings, popular poetry, chronicle histories and royal inventory records Sylvia Houghteling charts the travels of textiles from the Mughal imperial court to the kingdoms of Rajasthan, the Deccan sultanates and the British Isles. She shows how the art of cloth encompassed both the making of textiles as well as their creative uses. Houghteling asks what cloth made its wearers feel, how it acted in space and what images and memories it conjured in the mind. She reveals how woven objects began to evoke the natural environment, convey political and personal meaning and span the distance between faraway people and places. Beautifully illustrated The Art of Cloth in Mughal India offers an incomparable account of the aesthetics and techniques of cloth and cloth making and the ways that textiles shaped the social, political, religious and aesthetic life of early modern South Asia.
