William Wordsworth and the Invention of Tourism, 1820-1900 Saeko Yoshikawa,2016-02-17 In her study of the opening of the English Lake District to mass tourism Saeko Yoshikawa examines William Wordsworth s role in the rise and development of the region as a popular destination For the middle classes on holiday guidebooks not only offered practical information but they also provided a fresh motive and a new model of appreciation by associating writers with places The nineteenth century saw the invention of Robert Burns s and Walter Scott s Borders Shakespeare s Stratford and the Bront Country as holiday locales for the middle classes Investigating the international cult of Wordsworthian tourism Yoshikawa shows both how Wordsworth s public celebrity was constructed through the tourist industry and how the cultural identity of the Lake District was influenced by the poet s presence and works Informed by extensive archival work her book provides an original case study of the contributions of Romantic writers to the invention of middle class tourism and the part guidebooks played in promoting the popular reputations of authors

The Making of a Cultural Landscape Jason Wood,John K. Walton,2016-03-09 For centuries the English Lake District has been renowned as an important cultural sacred and literary landscape It is therefore surprising that there has so far been no in depth critical examination of the Lake District from a tourism and heritage perspective Bringing together leading writers from a wide range of disciplines this book explores the tourism history and heritage of the Lake District and its construction as a cultural landscape from the mid eighteenth century to the present day It critically analyses the relationships between history heritage landscape culture and policy that underlie the activities of the National Park Cumbria Tourism and the proposals to recognise the Lake District as a UNESCO World Heritage Site It examines all aspects of the Lake District s history and identity brings the story up to date and looks at current issues in conservation policy and tourism marketing In doing so it not only provides a unique and valuable analysis of this region but offers insights into the history of cultural and heritage tourism in Britain and beyond

Tourism and History John Walton,2011-04-30 Part of the Contemporary Review Series Contemporary Tourism Reviews will provide you with critical state of the art surveys of all of the major areas of tourism study to people who are coming to a topic for the first time Written by leading thinkers and academics in the field they provide flexible current and topical information as an instant download

Consuming Places JOHN Urry, 2002-03-11 John Urry has been discussing and writing on these and similar questions for the past fifteen years In Consuming Places he gathers together his most significant contributions Urry begins with an extensive review of the connections between society time and space The concept of society the nature of locality the significance of economic restructuring and the concept of the rural are examined in relationship to place The book then considers how places have been transformed by the development of service occupations and industries Concepts of the service class and post industrialism are theoretically and empirically discussed Attention is then devoted to the ways in which places are consumed Particular attention is devoted to the visual character of such consumption and its implications for place and people The implications for nature and the environment are also explored in depth The changing nature of consumption and the tensions between commodification and collective enthusiasms are explored in the context of the changing ways in which the countryside is consumed
